Izvestia Says Peking Foments Racial Conflict

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union Monday charged Red China with trying to set up a new center of international communism — long headquartered in the Kremlin—and of setting the colored races against the white.

The bitter accusations were printed in the government newspaper Izvestia as peace talks between Soviet and Chinese delegates plodded into their second week. Each side apparently was apparently determined to force the other to be first to break them off.

Izvestia, which represents the government point of view as compared to the Communist party organ Pravda, elaborated on charges contained in the party's open letter published Saturday.

Chinese "Modern Schismatics"

It said Red China was only one step from "a schism of the world Communist movement and the creation of a new international Communist center."

The paper said Peking was trying to find allies among the non-white nations on the basis of "the opposition of the colored peoples and the white race and the demarcation of peoples according to racial national and continental lines."

It said some nationalist leaders in newly independent countries were inciting their peoples against the Soviet Union as well as the West by "inculcating them with hostility toward white people."

It said the "modern schismatics" — the Chinese — "are driving home to the peoples of Asia and Africa that the West remains the West and that white people remain white people."

3½-Hour Meeting

The Chinese Communist party general secretary, Teng Hsiao-Ping, and his delegation spent 3½ hours with the Russians in a sprawling mansion in the hills overlooking Moscow.

The meeting convened as reverberations of Sunday's Kremlin anti-Chinese blast continued to roll through the world Communist movement.

The 35,000-word attack on Peking's leaders slightly lifted the curtain of secrecy surrounding the talks. It accused the Chinese delegates of aggravating the differences instead of seeking to patch them up.

Four Accused Spies Indicted By Grand Jury

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal grand jury Monday indicted four accused Russian spies on charges of conspiring to send the Soviet Union information about U.S. atomic weapon shipments, rocket launching sites and other military information.

The two men and two women could be sentenced to death if convicted of the charge.

The grand jury also revealed for the first time that the four accused spies, arrested by the FBI in synchronized raids in New York and Washington last July 2, tried to "cultivate and activate" military personnel and employes of defense installations as members of their spy ring.

Named in the indictment were Ivan Dmitrievich Egorov, 41, a personnel officer for the United Nations secretariat in New York; his wife Aleksandra Ivanovna Egorova, 39, and a Washington couple using the names of Robert K. Baltch and Joy Ann Garber Baltch.

U.S. Attorney Joseph P. Hoey said the spies would be arraigned Tuesday morning in Brooklyn Federal Court.

Hoey said that the two couples received instructions from the Kremlin by short wave radio. He said the radio was found in the Washington apartment occupied by the Baltchs.

Egorov and his wife were arrested in New York City and the couple using the name of Baltch were arrested in their Washington D.C., apartment.

The Washington couple had adopted the names of two unsuspecting American citizens, one a Roman Catholic priest in Amsterdam, N.Y., and the other a Norwalk, Conn., housewife.

Lung Transplant Patient Succumbs

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A 44-year-old man who underwent a lung transplant last week died Monday in Presbyterian-University Hospital.

398 On Millionaire List, Most Since 1929 Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Signs of the affluent society: The nation has 398 millionaires of record, more than at any time since the 1929 Wall Street crash.

The Internal Revenue Service, which has an intense interest in the subject, reported this Monday. Its figures applied to the number of millionaires as of 1961 because it took more than a year to compile the data.

Included in the select group for 1961 were 92 persons not in it the year before. This was the biggest jump since 1928, when the number increased by 221.

In 1929 a record 513 persons reported income of $1 million or more. In 1930, following the crash there were only 150. In 1932 the number dropped to 20, but business has picked up ever since.

Although 398 persons reported to tax agents that they earned $1 million or more in 1961, authorities on the distribution of U.S. wealth estimate there are many more—perhaps 100,000—who are worth a million dollars.

No names were mentioned in the Internal Revenue Service report, but a study of the statistics provides a profile of an "average" millionaire:

He had an adjusted gross income of about $2 million and paid about $800,000 in taxes. Most likely he was on a payroll, but the biggest chunk of his money came from profits on the sale of such things as stocks and property.

JFK Should Be 'Retired,' Ala. Governor Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama said Monday that President Kennedy has been "pressured" into approving mob violence and street rioting in behalf of his civil rights program.

Wallace told the Senate Commerce Committee that the Kennedy administration's handling of racial problems has brought the nation to "the brink of civil warfare" and he said:

"A president who sponsors legislation such as the Civil Rights Act of 1963 should be retired from public office."

Wallace charged also that "there are Communist influences in the integration movement," echoing a statement made before the committee Friday by Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi.

The committee is in the third week of hearings on the administration's public accommodations bill, which would forbid racial discrimination in stores, restaurants, hotels and other business places serving the public. Thirty states now have laws of this general type.

This bill is a key part of Kennedy's 7-point civil rights program, and Wallace said that if it is passed "The next step will be land reform."

"They will demand the seizure of land from those who have it for those who don't have any," he said.

The black-haired, anti-Kennedy Democrat, whose sweeping statements were challenged by some committee members, agreed to return Tuesday for further questioning.

"I don't think my coming here will change one vote," he said, but he added that he would like to arouse people over the nation.

Wallace said he does not believe "even the present Supreme Court would hold this bill constitutional although I'm not suprised at anything the court does."

He said it would be "unenforceable in Alabama" even if large numbers of federal troops were used.

"You've got segregation all over the United States, and you're going to continue to have it," he said. In the South "We've been above board about it," Wallace said, while in other sections "they preach one thing and practice another."

Symbol Of British Austerity Succumbs

LONDON (AP)—John Strachey, Labor party intellectual who became a symbol of British austerity after World War II, died Monday in a London hospital after a heart attack. He was 61.

As minister of food in Clement Attlee's postwar Labor administration, Strachey introduced bread rationing for the first time in British history. Fed up with austerity, the long-suffering British public showed its indignation.

Strachey became a target up and down the country for lampoonists and bar room wits. He also took most of the blame for the failure, at heavy financial cost, of the East African peanuts scheme—an attempt to provide a source of cheap vegetable oil for Britain.

Jovial, Joking Khrush Launches Big 3 Nuclear Test Ban Session

Soviet Premier Asks: "Shall We Sign Now?"

MOSCOW (AP) — Joking and bubbling with enthusiasm, Soviet Premier Khrushchev launched the Kremlin talks on a nuclear test ban agreement in a 3½-hour conference Monday with special U.S. and British envoys. He jovially suggested signing the agreement right away.

Red China, whose feud with Khrushchev has reached the point of a split, took angry note of the talks. A Peking broadcast charged that the negotiations were based on what it called the "utter hypocrisy" of President Kennedy's "strategy for peace."

By entering the talks with U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and Britain's Lord Hailsham, the Kremlin ignored Peking's latest claims that Communists cannot negotiate with "U.S. imperialism."

Both Sides Optimistic

The Kremlin's negotiations with the Western Allies are centered on a limited agreement banning tests in the air, space and under water. Both the Communist and Western sides expressed optimism.

Khrushchev was in a jovial mood from the first instant Harriman walked through the door of the big conference room in the Kremlin.

"You have started counting your years backwards," the Soviet leader told the 71-year-old Harriman, a former ambassador to Moscow.

"You, too," replied Harriman.

"I started doing that a long time ago," Khrushchev said. He is 69.

Harriman and Hailsham insisted that for picture-taking Khrushchev should stand between them.

Doing so, Khrushchev threw up his hands in mock despair and said a loud laugh: "I'm surrounded by imperialists."

Then the negotiators sat down at a table about 30 feet long.

Talks Conducted In Secrecy

"Shall we start off by signing the agreement right away?" Khrushchev joked.

Harriman shoved a pad and pencil toward him.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko broke into a broad grin at his seat next to Khrushchev and told his chief: "Sign and then leave it to be filled in."

Harriman has said he expected the conference to last about 10 days.

At the Kremlin's request, the United States and Britain have agreed that the conference should be carried on in secret.

Newsmen saw Harriman and Hailsham come out of the Kremlin in apparent good spirits. Leaving in separate cars, both Western officials were laughing and smiling as they talked with their associates.

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP) — On strike since July 2, about 6,000 workers of the Firestone Plantations Co. here resumed work Monday after winning company agreement to reinstate fringe benefits in their contract.

Mississippi Vote Registrar Convicted Of Civil Contempt

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Mississippi voter registrar, accused of trying to flunk Negro applicants, was convicted of civil contempt of federal court Monday.

The 5th U.S. Court of Appeals gave Theron C. Lynd, 43, of Hattiesburg, 10 days to comply with a list of court requirements and thus purge himself of contempt.

If Lynd fails to carry out the requirements he will be arrested and held in jail until he does comply, the three judge panel said.

Decision on a charge of criminal contempt was deferred, at the defense request, until the U.S. Supreme Court decided whether defendants in such cases may demand a jury trial.

Criminal contempt is more serious than civil contempt. You cannot purge yourself and thus avoid all or part of the punishment, as is usually the case with civil contempt.

The legal fight over a jury trial was carried to the Supreme Court by Mississippi Gov. Barnett, also charged with civil and criminal contempt.

The governor drew contempt citations for his actions in trying to bar Negro student James H. Meredith from the University of Mississippi.

Lynd was one of the first Mississippi registrars to tangle with the federal government over Negro voter registration. He is circuit clerk and registrar for Forrest County.

British Jury Frees Martelli Of Spy Charge

LONDON (AP) — An all-male jury Monday night found Giuseppe Martelli, 39-year-old English-speaking Italian scientist, innocent of charges that he was preparing himself for a career as a Soviet spy.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberaitng for nine hours and 45 minutes in the latest of a series of sensational British espionage trials.

The jury believed Martelli's story that he pretended to go along with the Russians under threats of blackmail but never gave away any secrets.

Martelli walked happily out of London's famed Old Bailey courtroom into the arms of a woman who had waited anxiously through the tense 11 days of his trial. She calls herself Pamela Martelli but is not his legal wife.

"I am terriby happy," she said. "I am so relieved that justice has been done. I always knew that he was not a spy."

Martelli no longer lives with the woman to whom he is legally married and who is the mother of his two children.

"I like this country," Martelli said. "I would like to stay here and work if I can."

He was arrested April 26. He had been employed on non-classified research at a laboratory of the Atomic Energy Authority in Oxfordshire.

Race Protest Wave Swirls In New York

Negro Ministers Seized In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP)—A summer wave of anti-discrimination demonstrations swirled in many quarters of this northern metropolis Monday, resulting in a mass arrest of Negro clergymen in Brooklyn.

Elsewhere the tension showed up in marches, sit-ins, conferences, court actions, weapons seizures, and alleged white neo-Nazi moves to foment disorder.

One Brooklyn minister said that the predominantly Negro Brooklyn-Styuvesant section "is on the brink of a violent outburst" unless Negroes get a fairer share of construction jobs.

In a troubled sector of the Bronx, pickets still walked outside a diner, after eight members of a pro-Nazi organization were seized on charges of plotting to incite a racial riot there.

Outside a court hearing, shouted claims were made that some of them were "beaten up."

A truckload of weapons was confiscated.

The current tide of demonstrations — at commercial and building sites and in government offices — was concentrated on winning more employment of Negroes.

Brigades of whites and Negroes, men and women, joined in the movements, claiming bias in hiring practices.

Negro lawyer Paul Zuber, of the greater New York Coordinating Committee for Equal Opportunity, said a federal court suit will be filed Wednesday to halt all city and state construction where discrimination exists.

Groups of sit-in demonstrators kept up round-the-clock posts at the New York offices of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner, in that dispute.

In Harlem, work on remodeling a bank was shut down, and at the city-sponsored Rutgers housing project on Manhattan's Lower East Side, other pickets paraded, with swarms of police standing by.

Representatives of the Equal-Opportunity Committee and builders of the Harlem Bank met to try to come to terms, but the conference ended with a "no statement" comment from both sides.

The committee asks that 25 per cent of the workers on the project be Negroes.

At the building site of the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, 42 demonstrators, including 17 clergymen, were arrested after they linked hands and blocked vehicles and workers.

Charged with disorderly conduct, they were held briefly in detention cells, and at an arraignment, were released on their own recognizance for a later hearing.

Seven Albanians Die In Crash Of Airliner

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Seven Albanians, including the wife and two children of the Albanian ambassador to Communist China, have been killed in a plane crash while flying from Peking to Albania, Tirana Radio announced late Monday.

It said they were aboard a Soviet-built TU-104 airliner that crashed Saturday near the Soviet city of Irkutsk in southern Siberia, according to Radio Free Europe (RFE) monitors here.

The broadcast did not say who owned the TU-104 or how many other persons might have been killed or injured in the accident.

It listed the Albanian dead only as Mrs. Malile, wife of the Albanian ambassador, and their two children; Drago Siliqi, a poet Hafer Baklamaja, a journalist, and his wife and child.

Guard Frees Negroes Who Defied Ban

Protest Called Off As Troops Prepare To Move In On Mob

By JOHN WOODFIELD

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Heavily armed National Guardsmen today arrested 14 Negroes trying to picket a segregated drugstore. But later, as other Negroes prepared a mass protest march, Guard leaders pledged the immediate release of the seized persons.

This headed off the protest parade, and about 500 Negroes who gathered outside the Bethel AME church facing a force of guardsmen carrying bayoneted rifles and tear gas grenades quietly dispersed.

They went home shortly before the 9 p.m. curfew decreed by the military forces in control of this city.

The 14 arrested persons, who included Mrs. Gloria Richardson, militant crusader for integration, were to be released later in the night from the National Guard armory at Easton, where they had been sped in military weapons carriers.

Searchlights Set Up

Tense scenes preceded this strictly temporary solution of this strife-torn city's troubles. As Negroes gathered for a rally at the Bethel church on Pine Street in the Negro section, big military searchlights were set up at ends of the street. They evidently were intended to illuminate the scene in case action was necessary.

Speakers in the church called for a protest march unless the 14 were given their freedom forthwith. While the rally was in progress, Col. J. Maurice Tawes of the National Guard entered the church and escorted two of the leaders away.

At first it appeared they too were being arrested. But it turned out that Tawes merely wanted to give them a message—that their arrested compatriots were going to be released.

The two—Reginald Robinson, a field secretary of the Students Non-Violent Coordinating committee, and Fred Jackson, a local integrationist leader, then returned to the church.

By that time the Negro crowd, which had grown to about 500, was outside the church, facing the alert guardsmen on an opposite corner.

Mayor Names Commission

"They are going to release our people so we won't march tonight."

Earlier the prospects had appeared grim. Philip H. Savage, a field secretary for the National Association for Colored People, had told the church rally:

"If we have to die on the streets, at least it can be said we died honorably."

Monday night Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray made a move to soothe the city's troubled racial scene by appointing a human relations committee to discuss racial problems.

Mrs. Richardson, who was among those arrested, had just come from a meeting in Annapolis where Gov. J. Millard Tawes, distant relative of Col. Tawes, attempted, evidently without much success, to reach some solution of the state's racial troubles.

Commuting Monotonous? Not By Hydrofoil Vessel

NEW YORK (AP) — The good ship Albatross—a hydrofoil vessel designed to skim over the water-pioneered a new service for commuters Monday, and commuting was never quite like it.

Not unless your daily routine includes charging to the aid of a cabin cruiser smoking ominously.

And rescuing its passengers who turn out to be Samuel Goldwyn, the motion picture producer, and Mrs. Goldwyn; and Robert Lehman, the investment banker.

Or hearing the cry "Man overboard!" as Ira E. Dowd, tall and affable president of American Hydrofoil Lines, Inc., goes kersplash into the swift currents of New York's East River.

He slipped from the Albatross' deck right after a delay that railroad, bus and auto travelers never encounter—heaving to for a Coast Guard launch which reminded the Albatross to make a report on the cabin cruiser incident.

But the Long Island commuters enjoyed it all, and several said they thought the new service, costing them $100 a month, would work out.

The schedule calls for zipping from Port Washington, on Long Island's North Shore, right to the foot of Wall Street in 45 minutes to an hour. That's about the same or longer than the railroad time, and it costs about three times as much, but it delivers most of the commuters next door to their offices in the financial district.

Monday morning's maiden voyage took an hour and 35 minutes—what with all the added fillips—and Dowd said the extra passengers added too much weight for the Albatross to rise up on its aluminum foils to skim over the water.

The hydrofoil vessel, with a cruising speed of about 30 miles per hour and seats for 22 passengers, runs on a diesel-powered propeller. As it gains speed, its hull rises clear from the water so there is remarkably little water friction or drag.

Hydrofoils are in service in Europe and in the Soviet Union. Dowd said his company plans to put 35 into operation by the end of 1964—15 in the New York area, and five each in the Boston, Philadelphia, Great Lakes and Florida-Caribbean areas.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko broke into a broad grin at his seat next to Khrushchev and told his chief: "Sign and then leave it to be filled in."

Harriman has said he expected the conference to last about 10 days.

At the Kremlin's request, the United States and Britain have agreed that the conference should be carried on in secret.

Newsmen saw Harriman and Hailsham come out of the Kremlin in apparent good spirits. Leaving in separate cars, both Western officials were laughing and smiling as they talked with their associates.

British Jury Frees Martelli Of Spy Charge

LONDON (AP) — An all-male jury Monday night found Giuseppe Martelli, 39-year-old English-speaking Italian scientist, innocent of charges that he was preparing himself for a career as a Soviet spy.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberaitng for nine hours and 45 minutes in the latest of a series of sensational British espionage trials.

The jury believed Martelli's story that he pretended to go along with the Russians under threats of blackmail but never gave away any secrets.

Martelli walked happily out of London's famed Old Bailey courtroom into the arms of a woman who had waited anxiously through the tense 11 days of his trial. She calls herself Pamela Martelli but is not his legal wife.

"I am terriby happy," she said. "I am so relieved that justice has been done. I always knew that he was not a spy."

Martelli no longer lives with the woman to whom he is legally married and who is the mother of his two children.

"I like this country," Martelli said. "I would like to stay here and work if I can."

He was arrested April 26. He had been employed on non-classified research at a laboratory of the Atomic Energy Authority in Oxfordshire.

Race Protest Wave Swirls In New York

Negro Ministers Seized In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP)—A summer wave of anti-discrimination demonstrations swirled in many quarters of this northern metropolis Monday, resulting in a mass arrest of Negro clergymen in Brooklyn.

Elsewhere the tension showed up in marches, sit-ins, conferences, court actions, weapons seizures, and alleged white neo-Nazi moves to foment disorder.

One Brooklyn minister said that the predominantly Negro Brooklyn-Styuvesant section "is on the brink of a violent outburst" unless Negroes get a fairer share of construction jobs.

In a troubled sector of the Bronx, pickets still walked outside a diner, after eight members of a pro-Nazi organization were seized on charges of plotting to incite a racial riot there.

Outside a court hearing, shouted claims were made that some of them were "beaten up."

A truckload of weapons was confiscated.

The current tide of demonstrations — at commercial and building sites and in government offices — was concentrated on winning more employment of Negroes.

Brigades of whites and Negroes, men and women, joined in the movements, claiming bias in hiring practices.

Negro lawyer Paul Zuber, of the greater New York Coordinating Committee for Equal Opportunity, said a federal court suit will be filed Wednesday to halt all city and state construction where discrimination exists.

Groups of sit-in demonstrators kept up round-the-clock posts at the New York offices of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner, in that dispute.

In Harlem, work on remodeling a bank was shut down, and at the city-sponsored Rutgers housing project on Manhattan's Lower East Side, other pickets paraded, with swarms of police standing by.

Representatives of the Equal-Opportunity Committee and builders of the Harlem Bank met to try to come to terms, but the conference ended with a "no statement" comment from both sides.

The committee asks that 25 per cent of the workers on the project be Negroes.

At the building site of the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, 42 demonstrators, including 17 clergymen, were arrested after they linked hands and blocked vehicles and workers.

Charged with disorderly conduct, they were held briefly in detention cells, and at an arraignment, were released on their own recognizance for a later hearing.

Mississippi Vote Registrar Convicted Of Civil Contempt

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Mississippi voter registrar, accused of trying to flunk Negro applicants, was convicted of civil contempt of federal court Monday.

The 5th U.S. Court of Appeals gave Theron C. Lynd, 43, of Hattiesburg, 10 days to comply with a list of court requirements and thus purge himself of contempt.

If Lynd fails to carry out the requirements he will be arrested and held in jail until he does comply, the three judge panel said.

Decision on a charge of criminal contempt was deferred, at the defense request, until the U.S. Supreme Court decided whether defendants in such cases may demand a jury trial.

Criminal contempt is more serious than civil contempt. You cannot purge yourself and thus avoid all or part of the punishment, as is usually the case with civil contempt.

The legal fight over a jury trial was carried to the Supreme Court by Mississippi Gov. Barnett, also charged with civil and criminal contempt.

The governor drew contempt citations for his actions in trying to bar Negro student James H. Meredith from the University of Mississippi.

Lynd was one of the first Mississippi registrars to tangle with the federal government over Negro voter registration. He is circuit clerk and registrar for Forrest County.

Seven Albanians Die In Crash Of Airliner

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Seven Albanians, including the wife and two children of the Albanian ambassador to Communist China, have been killed in a plane crash while flying from Peking to Albania, Tirana Radio announced late Monday.

It said they were aboard a Soviet-built TU-104 airliner that crashed Saturday near the Soviet city of Irkutsk in southern Siberia, according to Radio Free Europe (RFE) monitors here.

The broadcast did not say who owned the TU-104 or how many other persons might have been killed or injured in the accident.

It listed the Albanian dead only as Mrs. Malile, wife of the Albanian ambassador, and their two children; Drago Siliqi, a poet Hafer Baklamaja, a journalist, and his wife and child.

Guard Frees Negroes Who Defied Ban

Protest Called Off As Troops Prepare To Move In On Mob

By JOHN WOODFIELD

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Heavily armed National Guardsmen today arrested 14 Negroes trying to picket a segregated drugstore. But later, as other Negroes prepared a mass protest march, Guard leaders pledged the immediate release of the seized persons.

This headed off the protest parade, and about 500 Negroes who gathered outside the Bethel AME church facing a force of guardsmen carrying bayoneted rifles and tear gas grenades quietly dispersed.

They went home shortly before the 9 p.m. curfew decreed by the military forces in control of this city.

The 14 arrested persons, who included Mrs. Gloria Richardson, militant crusader for integration, were to be released later in the night from the National Guard armory at Easton, where they had been sped in military weapons carriers.

Searchlights Set Up

Tense scenes preceded this strictly temporary solution of this strife-torn city's troubles. As Negroes gathered for a rally at the Bethel church on Pine Street in the Negro section, big military searchlights were set up at ends of the street. They evidently were intended to illuminate the scene in case action was necessary.

Speakers in the church called for a protest march unless the 14 were given their freedom forthwith. While the rally was in progress, Col. J. Maurice Tawes of the National Guard entered the church and escorted two of the leaders away.

At first it appeared they too were being arrested. But it turned out that Tawes merely wanted to give them a message—that their arrested compatriots were going to be released.

The two—Reginald Robinson, a field secretary of the Students Non-Violent Coordinating committee, and Fred Jackson, a local integrationist leader, then returned to the church.

By that time the Negro crowd, which had grown to about 500, was outside the church, facing the alert guardsmen on an opposite corner.

Mayor Names Commission

"They are going to release our people so we won't march tonight."

Earlier the prospects had appeared grim. Philip H. Savage, a field secretary for the National Association for Colored People, had told the church rally:

"If we have to die on the streets, at least it can be said we died honorably."

Monday night Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray made a move to soothe the city's troubled racial scene by appointing a human relations committee to discuss racial problems.

Mrs. Richardson, who was among those arrested, had just come from a meeting in Annapolis where Gov. J. Millard Tawes, distant relative of Col. Tawes, attempted, evidently without much success, to reach some solution of the state's racial troubles.

Commuting Monotonous? Not By Hydrofoil Vessel

NEW YORK (AP) — The good ship Albatross—a hydrofoil vessel designed to skim over the water—pioneered a new service for commuters Monday, and commuting was never quite like it.

Not unless your daily routine includes charging to the aid of a cabin cruiser smoking ominously.

And rescuing its passengers who turn out to be Samuel Goldwyn, the motion picture producer, and Mrs. Goldwyn; and Robert Lehman, the investment banker.

Or hearing the cry "Man overboard!" as Ira E. Dowd, tall and affable president of American Hydrofoil Lines, Inc., goes kersplash into the swift currents of New York's East River.

He slipped from the Albatross' deck right after a delay that railroad, bus and auto travelers never encounter—heaving to for a Coast Guard launch which reminded the Albatross to make a report on the cabin cruiser incident.

But the Long Island commuters enjoyed it all, and several said they thought the new service, costing them $100 a month, would work out.

The schedule calls for zipping from Port Washington, on Long Island's North Shore, right to the foot of Wall Street in 45 minutes to an hour. That's about the same or longer than the railroad time, and it costs about three times as much, but it delivers most of the commuters next door to their offices in the financial district.

Monday morning's maiden voyage took an hour and 35 minutes—what with all the added fillips—and Dowd said the extra passengers added too much weight for the Albatross to rise up on its aluminum foils to skim over the water.

The hydrofoil vessel, with a cruising speed of about 30 miles per hour and seats for 22 passengers, runs on a diesel-powered propeller. As it gains speed, its hull rises clear from the water so there is remarkably little water friction or drag.

Hydrofoils are in service in Europe and in the Soviet Union. Dowd said his company plans to put 35 into operation by the end of 1964—15 in the New York area, and five each in the Boston, Philadelphia, Great Lakes and Florida-Caribbean areas.

Russia Says Ike Ended Test Moratorium In '59

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Russia Monday accused former President Dwight D. Eisenhower of ending the last U.S.-Soviet nuclear test moratorium by declaring in 1959 that the United States considered it had a right to resume such explosions.

The unofficial ban on nuclear testing lasted from 1958 until the fall of 1961, when Russia touched off a high altitude blast.

The Soviet delegation Monday issued a press statement replying to a charge made by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson on June 6 that the Russians had never announced the 1961 tests which caused "the unilateral rupture by the Soviet Union of the voluntary moratorium."

"How can one speak about a termination of moratorium in 1961 when the United States as far back as at the end of 1959 officially abandoned the moratorium on nuclear tests," the statement said.

"This was quite officially stated by former U.S. President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his statement of 29 December 1959 whereby he pointed out that the United States 'considers it has a right to resume nuclear tests.'

"It was precisely this statement by the President of the United States that put an end to the moratorium."

The Soviet accusation was issued at the U.N. shortly after Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev opened top-level nuclear test ban negotiations with the United States and Britain in Moscow in an atmosphere of joviality and optimism.

The Soviet statement denounced Stevenson's action in reporting to the United Nations that Russsia had launched six satellites it had not included in its own reports to the U.N. register.

"The United States is trying to assume the right, which nobody has given them, to register the launching undertaken by other countries," it said.

Unemployment Panel Will Include Fowler

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler has been invited to take part in a panel discussion on unemployment at the National Governors Conference in Miami Beach next week, a treasury spokesman said Monday.

The No. 2 man in the treasury will join two other higher ranking administration officials at the conference — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Fowler was added to a panel which will discuss "expanding employment opportunities" at the invitation of Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington, a Democrat who is chairman of the governors conference.

Other members of the panel on unemployment, which will meet on Tuesday, include Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland.

State Seeks Mental Exam For Beckwith

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Waller announced Monday he would seek a mental examination for Byron de la Beckwith, charged with the ambush murder of Negro integration leader Medgar Evers.

Waller said he would ask the Hinds County Circuit Court to order Beckwith examined because "the defense did not do so, and it is something that should be done."

Motions that accused criminals be given mental examinations are generally entered by defense attorneys.

Judge Leon Hendrick scheduled a hearing Thursday on Waller's request.

Beckwith, 42, an ex - marine from Greenwood, Miss., was charged with the June 12 sniper slaying of Evers, who was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Scaffold Stalls; Painters Stuck

NEW YORK (AP)—Two painters found themselves stuck Monday on the side of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, dangling four floors above Lexington Avenue on a motor-operated scaffold which had become inoperative.

One, Anthony Beneditto, 59, of the Bronx, took the hard way down, sliding down a rope and burning his hands in the process.

Demonstrations To Be Resumed At Gwynn Oak

BALTIMORE (AP)—Spokesmen for integrationists refused Monday to wait until next year for the color bars to be lowered at Gwynn Oak Amusement Park or to budge from plans to resume mass demonstrations.

Owners of the privately operated park and picnic grounds in suburban Northwest Baltimore, who have held out under 11 years of pressure by Negroes for admission, accepted a compromise proposal to open up next April if no further demonstrations were staged this summer.

The Rev. Robert Newbold, spokesman for a committee set up for the sole purpose of integrating the park, said the compromise was unacceptable.

"As of now, orderly, dignified, non-violent demonstrations will be resumed," the Negro minister said.

He held out no hope of cancellation, although a mediator predicted the park owners' decision will swing "the pendulum of public opinion in their favor."

Demonstrations had been suspended last weekend to give a Baltimore County Human Relations Commission a chance to mediate a solution. There were 380 arrests, including Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church together with 35 other ministers, Catholic priests, and rabbis, in marches on the park Independence Day and July 7.

James F. Price, one of three brothers who own Gwynn Oak, declined, at the beginning of the three-hour meeting, to accept commission's recommendation that the park be integrated July 26.

"We find that we face the age-old problem of human rights versus property rights, facets of which have perplexed thoughtful people for hundreds of years and will continue to do so," Price stated.

"Human rights in our opinion are not negotiable, but neither in the light of the present law, are the kinds of property rights at stake here."

FBI Hunts Four In Bank Holdup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI identified Monday four men being hunted in connection with the $142,000 robbery of a suburban Maryland bank last week.

Disclosure of the names of the four followed the arrest in Atlantic City, N.J. Sunday of Roger John Ugaro, described by the FBI as leader of the band that robbed the Oxon Hill bank a week ago.

At the same time, an FBI spokesman said it has recovered $43,850 of the loot so far.

The FBI said the men — all Negroes — for whom arrest warrants have been issued., are:

— Roland Hayes Ghee, 33, of East Orange, N.J., a barber. Ghee is just over 6 feet tall weighs 150 pounds.

— Harry Goody Jr., 30, of New York, a laborer, 5 feet 6 inches tall, 150 pounds.

— James C. Ross, 24, of East Orange, N.J., a laborer, just under 6 feet tall, weighing 157 pounds.

— Warren Arthur Sims, 38, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a 5 foot 7½ inch porter, weighing 152 pounds and occassionally wearing a small black moustache.

In Baltimore Zwinggi was a member of the Maryland Commission on Aging, the Governor's Commission on Youth, the Council on Economic Education in Maryland and the National Municipal League.

Neo-Nazis Get Hearing July 23

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eight members of the neo-Nazi National Renaissance Party (NRP) were arraigned Monday in Bronx Criminal Court on charges ranging from anarchy to plotting to incite a riot and were ordered held in lieu of bail for a hearing July 23.

All eight were arrested Sunday after three of them tried to distribute anti-Negro, anti-Semitic literature at a White Castle diner where pickets from the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) have been marching for more than a week in a demand that the restaurant chain hire more Negroes.

Among those arrested was the leader of the NRP, James A. Madole, 35, whose attorney, John Graves, claimed in court police had beaten Madole while he was in jail awaiting arraignment.

The arrests came after police uncovered a large cache of guns and ammunition said to belong to members of the NRP.

"Why don't you take them all out and shoot them!"

Tension among Negro integrationists was heightened by a major setback suffered Monday by compatriots in Baltimore. There the expectations of Negroes and white sympathizers, who include some nationally known church leaders, were dashed when the management of Gwynn Oak Amusement Park rejected a proposal to begin admitting Negroes July 26.

The park hit national headlines July 4 and 7 when 383 persons, including widely known Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergymen, were arrested for trespassing as they led a desegregation demonstration.

James F. Price, one of three brothers who own the park, read a statement Monday turning down the admit-Negroes plan proposed by the Baltimore County Commission on Human Relations.

Price, who has contended that if Negroes were admitted the park would go broke because whites would stay away, said:

"We find ourselves caught between the extremes of intolerance and impatience prevalent in these times. We have been called upon to find a solution to a problem apparently facing the entire nation."

Among those arrested here Monday, besides Mrs. Richardson, was Stanley Branche, a field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Soon after Mrs. Richardson got back from Annapolis, a meeting was held at the headquarters of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee. Then the attempted demonstration began.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A commission recommendation that the state income and sales taxes be increased 1 per cent in Baltimore and five nearby counties has drawn opposition from labor leaders.

The higher taxes would "hit those people hardest who can least afford to pay," protested Woodrow F. Strong, president of the Maryland-D.C. AFL-CIO.

Paul A. Wagner of the staff of the United Automobile and Aircraft Workers criticized the commission for not considering a tax on capital gains.

"Only a banker-oriented study committee would ignore the fact that Maryland has no capital gains tax," Wagner said.

The commission was headed by Hooper S. Miles, board chairman of the Maryland National Bank.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission has been informed that $58.7 million in federal funds will be available during the next 12 months for building expressways.

Plans of the roads commission to use it include completion of the Capitol Beltway around Washington and Interstate 1-70 between Hancock and Frederick.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Officials of the Ardenleigh Building and Loan Association have been given until Aug. 15 to demonstrate why it should not be placed in receivership.

Circuit Judge George M. Berry, who put the Parkville association under state conservatorship last December, received a report from accountants that there was a deficit of $133,000 in cash receipts.

28 Of 68 DEW Line Stations To Be Closed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Canada announced jointly Monday that they will shut down 28 of the 68 radar stations in the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line which extends across the Arctic to warn of bomber attacks.

The announcement called the shutting down of eight stations in Alaska and 20 in Canada an "adjustment." It said there would still be "acceptable" warning of attack if it should ever come.

The DEW line was built across the top of the continent in the late 1950s under an agreement between the two countries reached in 1955. With later extensions, it now reaches from the tip of the Aleutian Islands across Alaska, Canada and Central Greenland to Iceland.

No specific reason for closing the stations was stated in the announcement. It said the U.S. government recently suggested to Ottawa that a reappraisal of the line's effectiveness "indicates certain adjustments may be made in the equipment configuration and still provide acceptable early warning."

It was understood that the sites to be closed were mainly "gap filler" radar stations.

The main radar stations along the line are big rotating radars which reach out at long ranges and high altitudes to detect aircraft. Gap filler radar stations are placed between the large rotating radar stations to cover lower altitudes.

Railroad Panel Report Due Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's special railroad board got its fact-finding mission into high gear Monday and set Thursday as a target date for wrapping up a report on the work-rules dispute.

With exactly two weeks remaining of the strike truce between the railroads and their five on-train unions, both sides gave the panel in writing their separate interpretations of the issues. This provided a working base for the labor-management committee to get busy.

After this was presented at a morning session, each side went on its own to review the other's report.

In the afternoon, the six-man panel quizzed first the union spokesmen and then the carriers' representatives. The group planned to do the same Tuesday in an effort to pin down the facts and issues which have kept the railroads and the unions at odds for four years despite recommendations from two previous presidential committees and help from government mediators.

A Labor Department spokesman said the committee hopes to start writing its report on Wednesday and complete it by Thursday.

The plan is to give the report to Kennedy on Friday, which would allow him three days to study it and give Congress his recommendations next Monday, as he has promised.

The Labor Department spokesman said the committee's report probably will not be made public until next Monday when Kennedy sends his message to Congress, along with the report.

The President has not indicated what legislation he might propose, but speculation has centered on compulsory arbitration, seizure of the railroads or a combination of both.

Owners of the privately operated park and picnic grounds in suburban Northwest Baltimore, who have held out under 11 years of pressure by Negroes for admission, accepted a compromise proposal to open up next April if no further demonstrations were staged this summer.

The Rev. Robert Newbold, spokesman for a committee set up for the sole purpose of integrating the park, said the compromise was unacceptable.

"As of now, orderly, dignified, non-violent demonstrations will be resumed," the Negro minister said.

He held out no hope of cancellation, although a mediator predicted the park owners' decision will swing "the pendulum of public opinion in their favor."

Demonstrations had been suspended last weekend to give a Baltimore County Human Relations Commission a chance to mediate a solution. There were 380 arrests, including Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church together with 35 other ministers, Catholic priests, and rabbis, in marches on the park Independence Day and July 7.

James F. Price, one of three brothers who own Gwynn Oak, declined, at the beginning of the three-hour meeting, to accept commission's recommendation that the park be integrated July 26.

"We find that we face the age-old problem of human rights versus property rights, facets of which have perplexed thoughtful people for hundreds of years and will continue to do so," Price stated.

"Human rights in our opinion are not negotiable, but neither in the light of the present law, are the kinds of property rights at stake here."

FBI Hunts Four In Bank Holdup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI identified Monday four men being hunted in connection with the $142,000 robbery of a suburban Maryland bank last week.

Disclosure of the names of the four followed the arrest in Atlantic City, N.J. Sunday of Roger John Ugaro, described by the FBI as leader of the band that robbed the Oxon Hill bank a week ago.

At the same time, an FBI spokesman said it has recovered $43,850 of the loot so far.

The FBI said the men — all Negroes — for whom arrest warrants have been issued., are:

— Roland Hayes Ghee, 33, of East Orange, N.J., a barber. Ghee is just over 6 feet tall weighs 150 pounds.

— Harry Goody Jr., 30, of New York, a laborer, 5 feet 6 inches tall, 150 pounds.

— James C. Ross, 24, of East Orange, N.J., a laborer, just under 6 feet tall, weighing 157 pounds.

— Warren Arthur Sims, 38, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a 5 foot 7½ inch porter, weighing 152 pounds and occassionally wearing a small black moustache.

Neo-Nazis Get Hearing July 23

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eight members of the neo-Nazi National Renaissance Party (NRP) were arraigned Monday in Bronx Criminal Court on charges ranging from anarchy to plotting to incite a riot and were ordered held in lieu of bail for a hearing July 23.

All eight were arrested Sunday after three of them tried to distribute anti-Negro, anti-Semitic literature at a White Castle diner where pickets from the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) have been marching for more than a week in a demand that the restaurant chain hire more Negroes.

Among those arrested was the leader of the NRP, James A. Madole, 35, whose attorney, John Graves, claimed in court police had beaten Madole while he was in jail awaiting arraignment.

The arrests came after police uncovered a large cache of guns and ammunition said to belong to members of the NRP.

"Why don't you take them all out and shoot them!"

Tension among Negro integrationists was heightened by a major setback suffered Monday by compatriots in Baltimore. There the expectations of Negroes and white sympathizers, who include some nationally known church leaders, were dashed when the management of Gwynn Oak Amusement Park rejected a proposal to begin admitting Negroes July 26.

The park hit national headlines July 4 and 7 when 383 persons, including widely known Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergymen, were arrested for trespassing as they led a desegregation demonstration.

James F. Price, one of three brothers who own the park, read a statement Monday turning down the admit-Negroes plan proposed by the Baltimore County Commission on Human Relations.

Price, who has contended that if Negroes were admitted the park would go broke because whites would stay away, said:

"We find ourselves caught between the extremes of intolerance and impatience prevalent in these times. We have been called upon to find a solution to a problem apparently facing the entire nation."

Among those arrested here Monday, besides Mrs. Richardson, was Stanley Branche, a field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Soon after Mrs. Richardson got back from Annapolis, a meeting was held at the headquarters of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee. Then the attempted demonstration began.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A commission recommendation that the state income and sales taxes be increased 1 per cent in Baltimore and five nearby counties has drawn opposition from labor leaders.

The higher taxes would "hit those people hardest who can least afford to pay," protested Woodrow F. Strong, president of the Maryland-D.C. AFL-CIO.

Paul A. Wagner of the staff of the United Automobile and Aircraft Workers criticized the commission for not considering a tax on capital gains.

"Only a banker-oriented study committee would ignore the fact that Maryland has no capital gains tax," Wagner said.

The commission was headed by Hooper S. Miles, board chairman of the Maryland National Bank.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission has been informed that $58.7 million in federal funds will be available during the next 12 months for building expressways.

Plans of the roads commission to use it include completion of the Capitol Beltway around Washington and Interstate 1-70 between Hancock and Frederick.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Officials of the Ardenleigh Building and Loan Association have been given until Aug. 15 to demonstrate why it should not be placed in receivership.

Circuit Judge George M. Berry, who put the Parkville association under state conservatorship last December, received a report from accountants that there was a deficit of $133,000 in cash receipts.

28 Of 68 DEW Line Stations To Be Closed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Canada announced jointly Monday that they will shut down 28 of the 68 radar stations in the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line which extends across the Arctic to warn of bomber attacks.

The announcement called the shutting down of eight stations in Alaska and 20 in Canada an "adjustment." It said there would still be "acceptable" warning of attack if it should ever come.

The DEW line was built across the top of the continent in the late 1950s under an agreement between the two countries reached in 1955. With later extensions, it now reaches from the tip of the Aleutian Islands across Alaska, Canada and Central Greenland to Iceland.

No specific reason for closing the stations was stated in the announcement. It said the U.S. government recently suggested to Ottawa that a reappraisal of the line's effectiveness "indicates certain adjustments may be made in the equipment configuration and still provide acceptable early warning."

It was understood that the sites to be closed were mainly "gap filler" radar stations.

The main radar stations along the line are big rotating radars which reach out at long ranges and high altitudes to detect aircraft. Gap filler radar stations are placed between the large rotating radar stations to cover lower altitudes.

Railroad Panel Report Due Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's special railroad board got its fact-finding mission into high gear Monday and set Thursday as a target date for wrapping up a report on the work-rules dispute.

With exactly two weeks remaining of the strike truce between the railroads and their five on-train unions, both sides gave the panel in writing their separate interpretations of the issues. This provided a working base for the labor-management committee to get busy.

After this was presented at a morning session, each side went on its own to review the other's report.

In the afternoon, the six-man panel quizzed first the union spokesmen and then the carriers' representatives. The group planned to do the same Tuesday in an effort to pin down the facts and issues which have kept the railroads and the unions at odds for four years despite recommendations from two previous presidential committees and help from government mediators.

A Labor Department spokesman said the committee hopes to start writing its report on Wednesday and complete it by Thursday.

The plan is to give the report to Kennedy on Friday, which would allow him three days to study it and give Congress his recommendations next Monday, as he has promised.

The Labor Department spokesman said the committee's report probably will not be made public until next Monday when Kennedy sends his message to Congress, along with the report.

The President has not indicated what legislation he might propose, but speculation has centered on compulsory arbitration, seizure of the railroads or a combination of both.

President E. E. Church said such financial adjustments had been made, clearing the way for the Board's approval.

No action was taken on the appointment of a dean to succeed the late K. S. McKee by the board, according to E. E. Church, college president.

Mrs. William Allen Suman

Frostburg State Graduate Married In Hagerstown

A wedding of interest here was the marriage of Miss Carolyn Marie Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee Sterling Sr., RD 2, Williamsport, to William Allen Suman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Suman, also of RD 2, Williamsport.

The ceremony was solemnized at 7 p.m. July 7 in First Baptist Church, Hagerstown, with Rev. G. Bartow Harris officiating. Candelabra of lighted tapers and vases of daisies, gladiolus and carnations decorated the altar.

Mrs. Robert Myers, Hagerstown, was her sister's matron of honor, while Miss Sheryl Sterling and Miss JoAnn Andrews, niece of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Lisa Myers was her aunt's flower girl. Lester Irvin, Hagerstown, served as Mr. Suman's best man and the ushers were Stanley Thomas, Boonsboro, and Dale Swope, Mt. Lena. Miss Darlene Yonkers played the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satapeau, fashioned with a fitted bodice, with wide oval neckline with appliques of re-embroidered lace and bracelet length sleeves. The lace motif was repeated on the domed skirt, which extended, from twin side bows at the waistline. A crown of lace and seed pearls held her veil of French illusion. Completing her costume, she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, carnations and greens.

Her attendants wore identical knee-length dresses of embroidered cotton, with a large bow at the back. The matron of honor's was pale blue. With it she wore a blue velvet halo with circular veil, and carried an arm bouquet of blue and white carnations, roses and ivy. The bridesmaids' were pearl pink, with matching velvet bandeaux, and their bouquets of blue and pink carations, roses and ivy. The flower girl also was in pale blue with a lace trimmed square neckline, and had a flowered headband. She carried a basket of mixed flowers.

The bride is a graduate of South Hagerstown High School and of Frostburg Sate College, class of 1963. She is employed with McEwen's Market and will begin teaching in Washington County in September. The bridegroom is a graduate of Boonsboro High School and is associated with Harold's Sunoco Service Station, Potomac Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Suman are residing at 343 Bower Avenue, Halfway.

Secrets Of Charm

A Quick Refresher

It isn't possible to "swim yourself clean." You still need a cleansing bath with soap as well as water. The active swimmer knows this is an all important complement to exercise.

Just watch the sportswoman dash from the swimming pool, tennis court or golf links straight for the shower. And why not? Her whole body has been in action, her circulation stimulated. Now she needs to wash off all the perspiration, excess body oil and dust. It's also a solace to her spirits and a bath or shower helps her body to relax and brings about a feeling of well-being.

Temperate water cools you because it dilates the blood vessels. What it does is bring heat to the surface of the skin where it can escape.

A shower gives you great satisfaction and rains loveliness upon you, too. It's good when you need an eye opener in the morning, or a quick dip between daily beauty baths or a refresher before dinner or an evening social whirl. Wear a tight cap to protect your coiffure and circle your body up to the throat with bath oil, then cleanse your body with a sudsy brush, pumice roughened spots. Then, as a grand finale, bow out with a needle spray of cool water.

Follow with a rub-down with a heavy, absorbent towel to foster skin loveliness. Grasp it behind your back and with both hands tug at it vigorously from side to side across the shoulders, waist and derriere. Next, slant the towel and stroke the back diagonally from shoulder to hip; move upward on reverse diagonal. To do the legs, rest a heel on the tub, cradle the thigh within the towel and work down to the foot, draw it back and forth until the sole tingles. Repeat on other leg.

Optimism And The Economy

If, as is sometimes contended, the U.S. economy runs on optimism, then the remaining months of this year should be booming for business. Nearly everywhere the fuel is being added by economists and businessmen predicting a continuation of the current trend.

There are some doubters, who may be negativists—but perhaps also they have some points. The majority of economists were wrong last year. They predicted a recession for this year and failed to predict the upsurge that has taken place.

Some skeptics feel that the expansion is living on borrowed time. They cite the business cycles as measured by the National Bureau of Economic Research. These show that the duration of expansion for the 26 business cycles starting in 1854 averaged about 30 months, while the average for the 10 full cycles since 1919 was 36 months. The present expansion is in its 30th month now.

But cycles could be as wrong as economists and need not be relied upon to find disquieting factors. The deficit in the U.S. balance of foreign payments remains large, steel production dropped in the wake of settlement of the steel union dispute, and the stock market is acting erratically.

None of these, however, touch the major question: What are consumers going to do in the next few months? Will they continue their fast pace of buying? A study by the University of Michigan of consumer attitudes suggests some weakening of demand not pronounced enough to raise warning banners.

In sum, the signs of strength still far outnumber the weak spots in the economy. But let it not be forgotten that the law of ups-and-downs in business activity has not been repealed. Optimism is a good stance, as long as it is tempered with reasonable caution.

GOP Copes With COPE

In Republican circles the question is frequently asked, "How are we going to cope with COPE?" COPE, of course, stands for the Committee on Political Education of the AFL-CIO, which has been extraordinarily successful in "educating" voters to turn out for Left-Wing Democratic causes on election day.

To "cope with COPE," the Republicans have needed an organization that can carry Republican ideas into the big cities of the nation. But this has been troublesome for two reasons. The first is that, lacking a labor union base, the Republicans have not had a source of personnel recruitment in big city areas. The second has been the difficulties of raising "education" money, which has to come in small amounts from many people.

Lacking the means to crack the big cities, the Republicans have been inclined in recent years to let in-town wards go by default while concentrating on the suburbs. "Why," so the argument has run, "why bother with what we can't win anyway?"

But big city majorities, particularly in the northeastern states, have overbalanced the suburban voters—and a few Republicans are facing up at last to the necessity of cutting down their urban vote deficits even though they can't hope to erase them entirely. By losing by closer margins in the city, the Republicans might hope to triumph nationally.

The new Republicans philosophy of vote-catching has had its trial run — incidentally one of 13 years duration—in southern California, where an organization known as the Republican Associates of Los Angeles County has run schools for candidates, collected money in small amounts from many people both in and outside the cities to pay for research, and done other things of a practical nature without getting mixed up in intra-party feuding. So successful has been the Los Angeles experiment in "coping with COPE" that Republicans of the Chicago area, organized as the Citizens League of Illinois, recently created an "educative" body that managed to elect a Republican to the office of sheriff of Cook County.

The first man to bring the "cope with COPE" idea to the populous East coast, where it is needed by Republicans more than elsewhere, is John Lupton of Connecticut, a Republican candidate for Congress-at-large last Autumn who ran ahead of his ticket but still managed to lose because the city majorities were against him. As a conservative, Lupton is looked upon askance by local Rockefeller Republicans as a possible "Goldwater man." This has hampered the development of his Connecticut Republican Citizen's Committee a bit—but some of those who have been against the attempt to affect the city vote by raising "education" money and personnel outside the cities for fear that it would be helping a "Goldwater man's" career have recently been having second thoughts. For Lupton has insisted that his organization—which happens to be the first state-wide organization of its kind—is at the disposal of any Republican who can get a nomination, and at least some of those who have attracted him for trying to create a "dual" Party apparatus are coming around to see that he has only a "service" committee in mind.

Taking his tip from the Los Angeles and Cook County experience, Lupton plans to make suburban money and personnel available to Republican city bosses who have been both short of change and short of doorbell ringers. The Connecticut Republican Citizens Committee is being set up on joint stock company lines, "selling" memberships for $2 a month, or $24 a year. The members are empowered to vote for trustees, and the trustees, in turn, are expected to select the executive committee to run the organization.

With a kitty from the $2-a-month memberships and other donations, Lupton's Republican Citizens hope to take the Republican story into the heavily Democratic wards of Bridgeport, Hartford and other cities which have been tipping the scales for Democratic state and national candidates. "If we can take 20 or 30 per cent off the city deficit," says Lupton, "we could elect our candidates for state and national office."

"And we have an appeal," so Lupton concludes. "We can say to the urban voter: 'Why blame the Republicans for your job shortages, your dirty city streets, your job discrimination in unions, your disgust with a foreign policy that has let East Europe be enslaved? After all, the cities have been run by Democrats, and the Democrats have been in power nationally'."

This is one man's idea of "coping with COPE." Could it be that he has something?

Rep. Mills Now Ready To Write 1963 Tax Bill

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The old master of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, is at last ready to begin writing the much talked about, but as yet nonexistent, 1963 tax bill.

Ever since the end of the hearings on the Administration's proposals for a major tax cut, the Ways and Means Committee draftsmen have been hard at work. The full committee will now put the bill itself together from the raw material provided by the technicians; and above all, the committee will reach decisions on the crucial question of the new income and corporate tax rates.

What those decisions will be can be fairly confidently predicted. After an initial reverse, the day has been won by those who wish to remove the so-called "dividend credit" from the income tax system. This reform will recapture $500 million per annum for the Treasury. Other bits and pieces of reform will bring the total recaptured to $1.3 billion or about $2 billion less than the President originally proposed.

The reduced recapture in turn almost automatically establishes the new tax rates. Income tax rates will be cut to give a high of 70 per cent instead of the existing 95 per cent, with a low of 15 per cent. The corporate tax rate will be reduced, in parallel, to 47 per cent from the present level of 52 per cent.

These rate reductions, balanced against the recapture already noted, will provide a total tax cut on the order of $9.5 to $10 billion — the amount the President asked for in the first instance. The cut will be made in two annual steps, however. Other things being equal, therefore, next year's Federal deficit will be held to about the present level, instead of going much higher as originally expected.

Such is the tax package that can now be rather confidently expected to be presented to the House of Representatives by the Ways and Means Committee. The formal presentation will not occur, however, until late in August at the earliest. Rep. Mills and his committeemen first have to perform the always-difficult feat of persuading the House to vote the annual extension of a higher Federal debt ceiling.

It is much too early, therefore, to attempt any detailed prediction of the House response to the new tax bill. Yet it seems extremely unlikely that the House will reject the handiwork of Wilbur Mills and his colleagues, who have a way of winning the other members' acceptance of whatever they have done.

The Senate is a different matter. By the time the House acts on the tax bill, the Senate is likely to be locked in a filibuster on the new civil rights bill. But it is now generally accepted (grim and dreadful though this may be) that Congress will remain in session until close to Christmas. And so there will be time enough for Senate action on the tax bill before the interminable session terminates.

That will not be the end of the story, either. For 1963 is apparently to be a truly historic year on the fiscal front. To begin with, the testimony by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon before the Congressional Joint Economic Committee recently offered clear hints of a rise in short term interest rates designed to improve the U. S. balance of payments position. This rise would be put into effect only after the tax cut.

"A tax cut," said Secretary Dillon, "would be most helpful in offsetting any adverse effect of such action on our domestic economy."

It can be authoritatively stated that the present plan is to take the action thus hinted at, as soon as the tax bill has passed. The economic stimulus of a massive tax cut is counted on to neutralize the normally restrictive influence of the rise in interest rates. Interest rate-rise, in turn, is counted on to save between $500 million and $700 million of annual dollar outflows.

In addition, the Administration has already taken soundings on Capitol Hill, with favorable results, about another dollar-safeguarding scheme of a more unusual nature. The idea is to restrict, or even to put a semihalt to the use of the U. S. capital market as a source of funds for long term improvements abroad.

The City of Copenhagen, the City of Milan, many Canadian municipalities and public authorities, numerous other fundseekers of the same sort, have recently sold bonds in the U. S. This year's total outflow of dollars resulting from foreign bond sales here will amount to about $1.5 billion. Hence it is proposed to stop this leak, from which the U. S. economy gains nothing, by giving the Treasury authority to levy an excise tax on foreign bonds sold in the United States.

The final decision has not been taken, but the chances are already very high that this proposal will be placed before Congress after the House vote on the tax bill. Economically and fiscally, in short, the tax bill is only one part, though by far the largest part, of a more complex pattern.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

JR. NOT SR. — Sen. Frank Church pushed the intercom buzzer in his office and instructed his secretary to "get Franklin Roosevelt on the telephone." Her astounded reply was, "What shall I dial, CElestial 2000?" Church went on to explain that he wanted to speak to Franklin Roosevelt Jr., the new Under Secretary of Commerce.

IMPATIENCE — A sidelight to the administration's drive for civil rights legislation occurred the other day before the House Judiciary Committee.

John P. Roche, national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action—the liberal wing of the Democratic Party—was testifying on the impatience of citizens who aren't granted their full rights. He chided the Kennedys for not acting sooner on civil rights legislation and in the process had something to say about their own ancestors.

"It might be added on the historical level," said Roche, "that in the last century when the Boston Brahmins told the Irish immigrants to wait for their rights, they were met with a hail of 'Irish confetti'—a 19th century term for bricks. The attorney general might read up on his local history."

'Junior Won't Eat' A Common Complaint

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Junior won't eat and hasn't gained weight for months. This is a common complaint of parents and a thorough examination shows that 9 out of 10 of these children are normal and healthy. Mother is told to let nature take its course.

This is sound advice because the youngster is likely to be going through the "won't eat" era —a normal phase of development. Most infants have a ravenous appetite during the first six months of life, and gain a pound or more per month. But some time in the first half of the second year, appetite begins to wane and the tot gains less than ½ pound per month.

The desire for food reaches its minimum between the second and third year and the tyke may go for weeks and even months without putting on an ounce. It is during this "won't eat" period that the worried mother brings the boy to the family doctor. She is told not to worry because he won't starve to death. Furthermore, appetite generally returns as quickly as it disappeared, and a growth spurt is bound to follow.

A different situation exists in malnourished and markedly underweight children. Some are ill and may harbor an infection such as tuberculosis or kidney disease. Now and then, infected tonsils, anemia, or a gastrointestinal disturbance is responsible. But the majority are physically sound and loss of appetite stems from anxiety or an inferior constitution.

These boys and girls usually are small boned, nervous, jittery, and easily upset; some live under constant tension. The majority have received every tonic on the market and have swallowed their weight in vitamins. But these products seldom help because anxiety is the basic cause.

A mild sedative often does wonders even though these tots may not appear to eat more. They receive greater benefit from food when calmed down and waste less energy in fussing and fidgeting.

FUNCTION OF APPENDIX

G. S. writes: I asked my doctor of what use is the appendix and he said "none." Why, then, do we have this organ?

REPLY

We don't know the function of the appendix. In all probability, it is a rudimentary structure handed down from our ancestors. Occasionally it harbors a colony of pinworms and, when it perforates, gives the surgeon a job.

MIGRAINE AND PERSONALITY

C. R. writes: I'm not tense or nervous yet suffer from migraine attacks periodically. Can this type of headache arise from factors other than the emotions?

REPLY

We don't know the cause of migraine but many possible causes have been studied. The personality has received considerable attention but this is only one facet of the problem. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on migraine, which discusses the various aspects of this problem.

IN HIGH GEAR

B. G. writes: Can untreated hyperthyroidism affect the mental outlook adversely?

REPLY

Yes. The disease also affects other glands, the heart, and many organs. An overactive thyroid turns up the body's thermostat and there is a limit to how long the tissues can run at full speed.

BLUISH FEET

E. J. writes: What would cause the feet of a 42-year-old man to have a bluish color?

REPLY

Changes in circulation, especially when the legs are in a dependent position, as when sitting or standing.

DIURETICS QUICKER

M. S. writes: Can edema be cured through a low salt diet?

REPLY

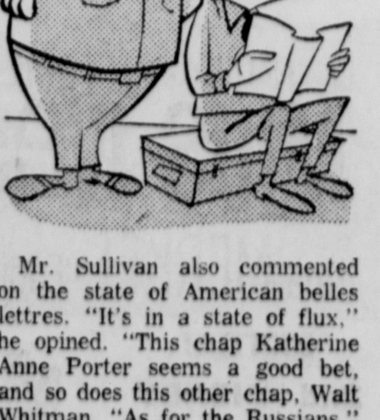
Yes, but it might take three or more months to do the job. Our modern diuretics act within a few days by encouraging the kidneys to eliminate salt from the body. In addition, digitalis may be needed when edema is caused by heart trouble.

TOMORROW. Pruritus ani (rectal itching).

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf



Sergeant Timothy McShane, no blushing violet, found a member of his platoon engrossed in—of all things — a hard-bound book. "Reading, huh?" marveled McShane. "What's the name of the book, son?" The private answered, "It's called 'What Twelve Million Women Want.'" "Hey," cried the good sergeant. "Lemme see that book a minute. I want to know if they got my name spelled right!"

Frank Sullivan, beloved sage of Saratoga, consented to an interview recently. "What do you think of American women?" began the interviewer. "They should be torn down," said Mr. S. briskly, then added, "Oh, pardon me, that's my answer to what do you think of the newfangled New York skyscrapers. As for American women, I'm not sure there are any nowadays. Everybody wears pants and how is a fellow with astigmatism and myopia going to tell which are women and which are men?"

Mr. Sullivan also commented on the state of American belles lettres. "It's in a state of flux," he opined. "This chap Katherine Anne Porter seems a good bet, and so does this other chap, Walt Whitman. "As for the Russians," he concluded, in no uncertain terms, "they'll never amount to anything until the get rid of the Czar."

Kansas Mental Hospital Volunteers Model For A Domestic Peace Corps

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — An idea of how the domestic peace corps may operate was given on a Congressional air trip to Osawatomie, Kans., and Pine Ridge, S. D., which those on the trip swore "not to tell Drew Pearson about." However, here is what happened.

The group left Washington in an immigration plane loaned by Attorney General Bob Kennedy which had been used to carry the last convicts from Alcatraz Penitentiary and Cuban prisioners from Havana and smelled like it. The plane was an hour and a half late leaving because Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Mental Health, was late. Aboard were Rep. William Brock, R-Tenn., the candy manufacturer from Chattanooga, Rep. William Avery, R-Kans., and Rep. David Martin, R-Neb., who wanted a chance to fly home.

Doctors and nurses at the first stop, the Osawatomie, Kans., State Mental Hospital, had been waiting about two hours, and were a bit disappointed in not seeing more brass in the party. But they gave an inspiring demonstration of how mental patients have benefited from the equivalent of a peace corps.

Volunteers from the neighborhood of Osawatomie, ranging from age 16 to 64, have come in to act as hospital aides, reading to patients, entertaining them, playing instruments to them. As a result, the hospital, with a capacity of 1,800 resident patients, is now down to 1,000.

The reduction was accomplished largely by putting across the idea that other people care.

Sen. Williams, who has been devoting himself to the difficult and thankless problem of mental health, believes a domestic peace corps could work in other hospitals, also could help lift the depressed areas of the Tennessee and Kentucky mountains.

Depressed Indians

To investigate conditions on the largest Indian reservation in the United States, the plane next flew to Pine Ridge, S.D., where the Congressmen traveled through many miles of poverty and squalor—old wooden shacks, muddy roads, inadequate water supply.

Pine Ridge covers one million and a half acres just below the Black Hills. There Chief Red Cloud made a speech to the visitors regarding neglect. It was a three-way conversation, though an interpreter, which took place alongside a crude monument of stones piled upon stones in memory of the original Chief Red Cloud.

"You give us promises, but nothing happens," said the present Chief Red Cloud. "Your troops massacred us. You put the rest of us to live by ourselves, you promise us many things, but you break your promises."

Capt. William R. Anderson, former commander of the first atomic submarine, Nautilus, who will be in charge of the domestic peace corps if it is ok'd by Congress, introduced himself to Chief Red Cloud and answered. Defending President Kennedy, he pointed out that the broken promises had been made under the previous administration, said that everything depends on money voted by Congress.

"We are here to do what we can," he said.

Only one voluntary worker was helping the Indians on the Pine Lodge Reservation — Miss Aline Cronshey, from Long Valley, N. J., who has set up a children's nursery.

Heading For Home

After an Indian war dance, Sen. Williams was ready to go home. Rep. Martin had hoped to be dropped off at his home, Kearny, Neb., but it was too stormy to land there, and the plane headed for the SAC base at Lincoln, Neb.

Sen. Williams wanted to get back to New Jersey for the weekend, but the pilots were not permitted to fly again without six hours' sleep. So, much against the wishes of the rest of the party, who hated to get up early, it was decreed that the pilots would sleep until 4:30 a. m., then take off.

At 3:00 a. m., the phone rang in Sen. Williams's room.

"I'm a constituent of yours in New Jersey," said a Negro voice. "And my husband here at the SAC base is being discriminated against."

"Come down to the airfield at 4:30 a. m., and I'll talk to you," said the sleepy Senator from New Jersey.

The constituent never came. But the party departed for Washington on time at 4:30 after all had taken an oath "not to tell Drew Pearson."

Capital Chaff

One reason for the enthusiastic reception President Kennedy got on his recent trip to Germany was the terrific play given him by Karl Hans Hagen, editor-in-chief of Quick. Quick, which is the German equivalent of Life, gave Kennedy the best coverage of any publications in Europe. It paid off with the sale of 127,000 extra copies for the issue featuring JFK on the cover. . . . Jefferson Caffery, the veteran diplomat, who used to be ambassador to France, still receives letters from de Gaulle. It was Mrs. J. Ham Lewis, widow of the famed pink-whiskered Senator from Illinois, who finally got Caffery, long a bachelor, married to a Chicago girl. . . . Jim Fulton, the debonair GOP Congressman from the suburbs of Pittsburgh, is an optimist about Gov. Bill Scranton of Pennsylvania as the GOP nominee. Some of the Old Guard in Pennsylvania are not. They say he's handsome, charming, but unpredictable. . . . Congratulations to Rep. Oliver Bolton, R-Ohio, for urging that all Congressional spending be audited by the General Accounting Office. The public doesn't know that the only government money not audited is that spent by Congress. . . . Sister Mary Richard, principal of the Sacred Heart Academy of Hoboken, N. J., is working in the office of Rep. Dominick Daniels, D-N.J., to learn how Congress operates. The first nun in history to actually serve on a Congressman's staff, her expenses are being paid by a grant from the New Jersey State Society and the Eagleton Political Science Institute of Rutgers University.

The Big Time Hicks

By John Crosby

"I'm rather fed up with show business," said Peter Ustinov crisply. "I've got to the point where I don't really understand why the show has to go on."

A heretical thought for an actor. Ustinov is a heretic because he thinks, in the first place, which is unusual among actors and then he tells you what he thinks, which is alomst unknown among anyone. He had a number of complaints — all sound.

"The American theater is in terrible shape. The quality of the New York audiences is depressing. My career is not particularly long. Still I remember back when a line or bit of business fell flat in Manchester and people would say: 'Well, they don't understand it in Manchester, but that will go very well in New York and London.' Now the situation is reversed. Something that is understood with alacrity in Milwaukee and Boston and Edinburgh and Manchester falls very flat in New York and London. People are always asking me the difference between playing in New York and London. Well, there are great differences. But there is almost no difference between Edinburgh and Milwaukee. They are both frightfully good audiences."

And New York audiences, he made it quite clear, are frightfully bad. I said that for laughter the New York benefit audience was particularly deadly, but Ustinov disputed that. "It's a good audience for laughs, but must Cheapen the laughs. Make it broader than it should be. It's an audience for gags."

Ustinov admitted that the New York audience contained some very hip seedlings. "It's never the actors who complain the most. The most complaints about the quality of the New York audiences come from members of the same audience."

He told me about one particularly bad member of the audience. "When the curtain went up, he was asleep in the front row. To our eternal discredit, we never succeeded in waking him. Americans sleep in such a rampant way" — here he sprawled arms outstretched all over his chair—" not discreetly the way they do in London."

He sighed: "I really don't enjoy acting in the large metropolitan centers any more. I'd much rather confine myself to a forward-looking progressive town, forward-looking enough to put its plays in a new building." His new play, "The Life In My Hands," will open in Nottingham whose theater is so new the roof isn't on yet.

He said that the audiences outside New York were not only livelier but readier to attend. David Merrick had opened "Oliver" in Los Angeles and cleaned up on the road getting to New York. "Even the movies are thinking along those lines," said Ustinov. "Joe Levine said why open in New York and risk getting a bad reputation nationally.

"If I didn't have a family," he added, "I'd spend all my time on the road."

New York, I said, was getting bad notices everywhere. Last time I was in Milwaukee, the Milwaukee Journal editor told me his newspaper had closed their New York bureau, which had been open for 40 years, because New York wasn't providing enough news. If the plays and movies started opening out of town, what would people come to New York for — to look at the United Nations?

Ustinov's new play—"I don't like to sound too square about this" — is about the death sentence. "It's a serious play, but there are spots where people will be induced to laugh. Comedy has always been a different way to be serious. Feydau could have written a great comedy about the Profumo case. I think the Profumo case is an absolute natural for French farce. Two detectives on the trail of a Russian spy and, trailing him, they find themselves at the door of the Minister of War, whom they are responsible to."

For an actor, Ustinov has always been politically very sharp. At the door of the Lancaster, under the bright blue Paris sky, he remarked: "The extraordinary thing about America is how they tell you the moment you get there that you're finally in a free country. Yet the breadth of opinion in America is terribly narrow. Goldwater, on the Jack Paar show, had to talk about liberals and conservatives because there are no appreciable differences between Republicans and Democrats anymore."

I said there were no great differences between liberals and conservatives in America anymore either. There are just degrees of coservatism. It the New Frontier has ever had a liberal thought, they've kept it mircaulously well-hidden.

The new Republicans philosophy of vote-catching has had its trial run — incidentally one of 13 years duration—in southern California, where an organization known as the Republican Associates of Los Angeles County has run schools for candidates, collected money in small amounts from many people both in and outside the cities to pay for research, and done other things of a practical nature without getting mixed up in intra-party feuding. So successful has been the Los Angeles experiment in "coping with COPE" that Republicans of the Chicago area, organized as the Citizens League of Illinois, recently created an "educative" body that managed to elect a Republican to the office of sheriff of Cook County.

The first man to bring the "cope with COPE" idea to the populous East coast, where it is needed by Republicans more than elsewhere, is John Lupton of Connecticut, a Republican candidate for Congress-at-large last Autumn who ran ahead of his ticket but still managed to lose because the city majorities were against him. As a conservative, Lupton is looked upon askance by local Rockefeller Republicans as a possible "Goldwater man." This has hampered the development of his Connecticut Republican Citizen's Committee a bit—but some of those who have been against the attempt to affect the city vote by raising "education" money and personnel outside the cities for fear that it would be helping a "Goldwater man's" career have recently been having second thoughts. For Lupton has insisted that his organization—which happens to be the first state-wide organization of its kind—is at the disposal of any Republican who can get a nomination, and at least some of those who have attracted him for trying to create a "dual" Party apparatus are coming around to see that he has only a "service" committee in mind.

Taking his tip from the Los Angeles and Cook County experience, Lupton plans to make suburban money and personnel available to Republican city bosses who have been both short of change and short of doorbell ringers. The Connecticut Republican Citizens Committee is being set up on joint stock company lines, "selling" memberships for $2 a month, or $24 a year. The members are empowered to vote for trustees, and the trustees, in turn, are expected to select the executive committee to run the organization.

With a kitty from the $2-a-month memberships and other donations, Lupton's Republican Citizens hope to take the Republican story into the heavily Democratic wards of Bridgeport, Hartford and other cities which have been tipping the scales for Democratic state and national candidates. "If we can take 20 or 30 per cent off the city deficit," says Lupton, "we could elect our candidates for state and national office."

"And we have an appeal," so Lupton concludes. "We can say to the urban voter: 'Why blame the Republicans for your job shortages, your dirty city streets, your job discrimination in unions, your disgust with a foreign policy that has let East Europe be enslaved? After all, the cities have been run by Democrats, and the Democrats have been in power nationally'."

This is one man's idea of "coping with COPE." Could it be that he has something?

Rep. Mills Now Ready To Write 1963 Tax Bill

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The old master of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, is at last ready to begin writing the much talked about, but as yet non-existent, 1963 tax bill.

Ever since the end of the hearings on the Administration's proposals for a major tax cut, the Ways and Means Committee draftsmen have been hard at work. The full committee will now put the bill itself together from the raw material provided by the technicians; and above all, the committee will reach decisions on the crucial question of the new income and corporate tax rates.

What those decisions will be can be fairly confidently predicted. After an initial reverse, the day has been won by those who wish to remove the so-called "dividend credit" from the income tax system. This reform will recapture $500 million per annum for the Treasury. Other bits and pieces of reform will bring the total recaptured to $1.3 billion or about $2 billion less than the President originally proposed.

The reduced recapture in turn almost automatically establishes the new tax rates. Income tax rates will be cut to give a high of 70 per cent instead of the existing 95 per cent, with a low of 15 per cent. The corporate tax rate will be reduced, in parallel, to 47 per cent from the present level of 52 per cent.

These rate reductions, balanced against the recapture already noted, will provide a total tax cut on the order of $9.5 to $10 billion — the amount the President asked for in the first instance. The cut will be made in two annual steps, however. Other things being equal, therefore, next year's Federal deficit will be held to about the present level, instead of going much higher as originally expected.

Such is the tax package that can now be rather confidently expected to be presented to the House of Representatives by the Ways and Means Committee. The formal presentation will not occur, however, until late in August at the earliest. Rep. Mills and his committeemen first have to perform the always-difficult feat of persuading the House to vote the annual extension of a higher Federal debt ceiling.

It is much too early, therefore, to attempt any detailed prediction of the House response to the new tax bill. Yet it seems extremely unlikely that the House will reject the handiwork of Wilbur Mills and his colleagues, who have a way of winning the other members' acceptance of whatever they have done.

The Senate is a different matter. By the time the House acts on the tax bill, the Senate is likely to be locked in a filibuster on the new civil rights bill. But it is now generally accepted (grim and dreadful though this may be) that Congress will remain in session until close to Christmas. And so there will be time enough for Senate action on the tax bill before the interminable session terminates.

That will not be the end of the story, either. For 1963 is apparently to be a truly historic year on the fiscal front. To begin with, the testimony by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon before the Congressional Joint Economic Committee recently offered clear hints of a rise in short term interest rates designed to improve the U. S. balance of payments position. This rise would be put into effect only after the tax cut.

"A tax cut," said Secretary Dillon, "would be most helpful in offsetting any adverse effect of such action on our domestic economy."

It can be authoritatively stated that the present plan is to take the action thus hinted at, as soon as the tax bill has passed. The economic stimulus of a massive tax cut is counted on to neutralize the normally restrictive influence of the rise in interest rates. Interest rate-rise, in turn, is counted on to save between $500 million and $700 million of annual dollar outflows.

In addition, the Administration has already taken soundings on Capitol Hill, with favorable results, about another dollar-safeguarding scheme of a more unusual nature. The idea is to restrict, or even to put a semihalt to the use of the U. S. capital market as a source of funds for long term improvements abroad.

The City of Copenhagen, the City of Milan, many Canadian municipalities and public authorities, numerous other fundseekers of the same sort, have recently sold bonds in the U. S. This year's total outflow of dollars resulting from foreign bond sales here will amount to about $1.5 billion. Hence it is proposed to stop this leak, from which the U. S. economy gains nothing, by giving the Treasury authority to levy an excise tax on foreign bonds sold in the United States.

The final decision has not been taken, but the chances are already very high that this proposal will be placed before Congress after the House vote on the tax bill. Economically and fiscally, in short, the tax bill is only one part, though by far the largest part, of a more complex pattern.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

JR. NOT SR. — Sen. Frank Church pushed the intercom buzzer in his office and instructed his secretary to "get Franklin Roosevelt on the telephone." Her astounded reply was, "What shall I dial, CElestial 2000?" Church went on to explain that he wanted to speak to Franklin Roosevelt Jr., the new Under Secretary of Commerce.

IMPATIENCE — A sidelight to the administration's drive for civil rights legislation occurred the other day before the House Judiciary Committee.

John P. Roche, national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action—the liberal wing of the Democratic Party—was testifying on the impatience of citizens who aren't granted their full rights. He chided the Kennedys for not acting sooner on civil rights legislation and in the process had something to say about their own ancestors.

"It might be added on the historical level," said Roche, "that in the last century when the Boston Brahmins told the Irish immigrants to wait for their rights, they were met with a hail of 'Irish confetti'—a 19th century term for bricks. The attorney general might read up on his local history."

'Junior Won't Eat' A Common Complaint

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Junior won't eat and hasn't gained weight for months. This is a common complaint of parents and a thorough examination shows that 9 out of 10 of these children are normal and healthy. Mother is told to let nature take its course.

This is sound advice because the youngster is likely to be going through the "won't eat" era —a normal phase of development. Most infants have a ravenous appetite during the first six months of life, and gain a pound or more per month. But some time in the first half of the second year, appetite begins to wane and the tot gains less than ½ pound per month.

The desire for food reaches its minimum between the second and third year and the tyke may go for weeks and even months without putting on an ounce. It is during this "won't eat" period that the worried mother brings the boy to the family doctor. She is told not to worry because he won't starve to death. Furthermore, appetite generally returns as quickly as it disappeared, and a growth spurt is bound to follow.

A different situation exists in malnourished and markedly underweight children. Some are ill and may harbor an infection such as tuberculosis or kidney disease. Now and then, infected tonsils, anemia, or a gastrointestinal disturbance is responsible. But the majority are physically sound and loss of appetite stems from anxiety or an inferior constitution.

These boys and girls usually are small boned, nervous, jittery, and easily upset; some live under constant tension. The majority have received every tonic on the market and have swallowed their weight in vitamins. But these products seldom help because anxiety is the basic cause.

A mild sedative often does wonders even though these tots may not appear to eat more. They receive greater benefit from food when calmed down and waste less energy in fussing and fidgeting.

FUNCTION OF APPENDIX

G. S. writes: I asked my doctor of what use is the appendix and he said "none." Why, then, do we have this organ?

REPLY

We don't know the function of the appendix. In all probability, it is a rudimentary structure handed down from our ancestors. Occasionally it harbors a colony of pinworms and, when it perforates, gives the surgeon a job.

MIGRAINE AND PERSONALITY

C. R. writes: I'm not tense or nervous yet suffer from migraine attacks periodically. Can this type of headache arise from factors other than the emotions?

REPLY

We don't know the cause of migraine but many possible causes have been studied. The personality has received considerable attention but this is only one facet of the problem. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on migraine, which discusses the various aspects of this problem.

IN HIGH GEAR

B. G. writes: Can untreated hyperthyroidism affect the mental outlook adversely?

REPLY

Yes. The disease also affects other glands, the heart, and many organs. An overactive thyroid turns up the body's thermostat and there is a limit to how long the tissues can run at full speed.

BLUISH FEET

E. J. writes: What would cause the feet of a 42-year-old man to have a bluish color?

REPLY

Changes in circulation, especially when the legs are in a dependent position, as when sitting or standing.

DIURETICS QUICKER

M. S. writes: Can edema be cured through a low salt diet?

REPLY

Yes, but it might take three or more months to do the job. Our modern diuretics act within a few days by encouraging the kidneys to eliminate salt from the body. In addition, digitalis may be needed when edema is caused by heart trouble.

TOMORROW. Pruritus ani (rectal itching).

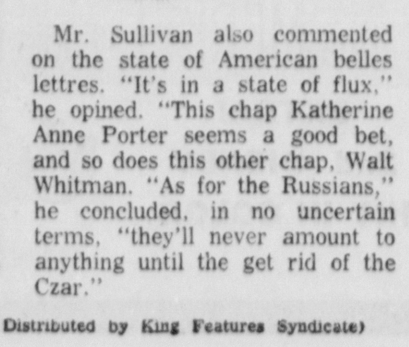
To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Sergeant Timothy McShane, no blushing violet, found a member of his platoon engrossed in—of all things — a hard-bound book. "Reading, huh?" marveled McShane. "What's the name of the book, son?" The private answered, "It's called 'What Twelve Million Women Want.'" "Hey," cried the good sergeant. "Lemme see that book a minute. I want to know if they got my name spelled right!"

Frank Sullivan, beloved sage of Saratoga, consented to an interview recently. "What do you think of American women?" began the interviewer. "They should be torn down," said Mr. S. briskly, then added, "Oh, pardon me, that's my answer to what do you think of the new-fangled New York skyscrapers. As for American women, I'm not sure there are any nowadays. Everybody wears pants and how is a fellow with astigmatism and myopia going to tell which are women and which are men?"



Mr. Sullivan also commented on the state of American belles lettres. "It's in a state of flux," he opined. "This chap Katherine Anne Porter seems a good bet, and so does this other chap, Walt Whitman. "As for the Russians," he concluded, in no uncertain terms, "they'll never amount to anything until the get rid of the Czar."

Kansas Mental Hospital Volunteers Model For A Domestic Peace Corps

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — An idea of how the domestic peace corps may operate was given on a Congressional air trip to Osawatomie, Kans., and Pine Ridge, S. D., which those on the trip swore "not to tell Drew Pearson about." However, here is what happened.

The group left Washington in an immigration plane loaned by Attorney General Bob Kennedy which had been used to carry the last convicts from Alcatraz Penitentiary and Cuban prisioners from Havana and smelled like it. The plane was an hour and a half late leaving because Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Mental Health, was late. Aboard were Rep. William Brock, R-Tenn., the candy manufacturer from Chattanooga, Rep. William Avery, R-Kans., and Rep. David Martin, R-Neb., who wanted a chance to fly home.

Doctors and nurses at the first stop, the Osawatomie, Kans., State Mental Hospital, had been waiting about two hours, and were a bit disappointed in not seeing more brass in the party. But they gave an inspiring demonstration of how mental patients have benefited from the equivalent of a peace corps.

Volunteers from the neighborhood of Osawatomie, ranging from age 16 to 64, have come in to act as hospital aides, reading to patients, entertaining them, playing instruments to them. As a result, the hospital, with a capacity of 1,800 resident patients, is now down to 1,000.

The reduction was accomplished largely by putting across the idea that other people care.

Sen. Williams, who has been devoting himself to the difficult and thankless problem of mental health, believes a domestic peace corps could work in other hospitals, also could help lift the depressed areas of the Tennessee and Kentucky mountains.

Depressed Indians

To investigate conditions on the largest Indian reservation in the United States, the plane next flew to Pine Ridge, S.D., where the Congressmen traveled through many miles of poverty and squalor—old wooden shacks, muddy roads, inadequate water supply.

Pine Ridge covers one million and a half acres just below the Black Hills. There Chief Red Cloud made a speech to the visitors regarding neglect. It was a three-way conversation, though an interpreter, which took place alongside a crude monument of stones piled upon stones in memory of the original Chief Red Cloud.

"You give us promises, but nothing happens," said the present Chief Red Cloud. "Your troops massacred us. You put the rest of us to live by ourselves, you promise us many things, but you break your promises."

Capt. William R. Anderson, former commander of the first atomic submarine, Nautilus, who will be in charge of the domestic peace corps if it is ok'd by Congress, introduced himself to Chief Red Cloud and answered. Defending President Kennedy, he pointed out that the broken promises had been made under the previous administration, said that everything depends on money voted by Congress.

"We are here to do what we can," he said.

Only one voluntary worker was helping the Indians on the Pine Lodge Reservation — Miss Aline Cronshey, from Long Valley, N. J., who has set up a children's nursery.

Heading For Home

After an Indian war dance, Sen. Williams was ready to go home. Rep. Martin had hoped to be dropped off at his home, Kearny, Neb., but it was too stormy to land there, and the plane headed for the SAC base at Lincoln, Neb.

Sen. Williams wanted to get back to New Jersey for the weekend, but the pilots were not permitted to fly again without six hours' sleep. So, much against the wishes of the rest of the party, who hated to get up early, it was decreed that the pilots would sleep until 4:30 a. m., then take off.

At 3:00 a. m., the phone rang in Sen. Williams's room.

"I'm a constituent of yours in New Jersey," said a Negro voice. "And my husband here at the SAC base is being discriminated against."

"Come down to the airfield at 4:30 a. m., and I'll talk to you," said the sleepy Senator from New Jersey.

The constituent never came. But the party departed for Washington on time at 4:30 after all had taken an oath "not to tell Drew Pearson."

Capital Chaff

One reason for the enthusiastic reception President Kennedy got on his recent trip to Germany was the terrific play given him by Karl Hans Hagen, editor-in-chief of Quick. Quick, which is the German equivalent of Life, gave Kennedy the best coverage of any publications in Europe. It paid off with the sale of 127,000 extra copies for the issue featuring JFK on the cover. . . . Jefferson Caffery, the veteran diplomat, who used to be ambassador to France, still receives letters from de Gaulle. It was Mrs. J. Ham Lewis, widow of the famed pink-whiskered Senator from Illinois, who finally got Caffery, long a bachelor, married to a Chicago girl. . . . Jim Fulton, the debonair GOP Congressman from the suburbs of Pittsburgh, is an optimist about Gov. Bill Scranton of Pennsylvania as the GOP nominee. Some of the Old Guard in Pennsylvania are not. They say he's handsome, charming, but unpredictable. . . . Congratulations to Rep. Oliver Bolton, R-Ohio, for urging that all Congressional spending be audited by the General Accounting Office. The public doesn't know that the only government money not audited is that spent by Congress. . . . Sister Mary Richard, principal of the Sacred Heart Academy of Hoboken, N. J., is working in the office of Rep. Dominick Daniels, D-N.J., to learn how Congress operates. The first nun in history to actually serve on a Congressman's staff, her expenses are being paid by a grant from the New Jersey State Society and the Eagleton Political Science Institute of Rutgers University.

The Big Time Hicks

By John Crosby

"I'm rather fed up with show business," said Peter Ustinov crisply. "I've got to the point where I don't really understand why the show has to go on."

A heretical thought for an actor. Ustinov is a heretic because he thinks, in the first place, which is unusual among actors and then he tells you what he thinks, which is alomst unknown among anyone. He had a number of complaints — all sound.

"The American theater is in terrible shape. The quality of the New York audiences is depressing. My career is not particularly long. Still I remember back when a line or bit of business fell flat in Manchester and people would say: 'Well, they don't understand it in Manchester, but that will go very well in New York and London.' Now the situation is reversed. Something that is understood with alacrity in Milwaukee and Boston and Edinburgh and Manchester falls very flat in New York and London. People are always asking me the difference between playing in New York and London. Well, there are great differences. But there is almost no difference between Edinburgh and Milwaukee. They are both frightfully good audiences."

And New York audiences, he made it quite clear, are frightfully bad. I said that for laughter the New York benefit audience was particularly deadly, but Ustinov disputed that. "It's a good audience for laughs, but must Cheapen the laughs. Make it broader than it should be. It's an audience for gags."

Ustinov admitted that the New York audience contained some very hip seedlings. "It's never the actors who complain the most. The most complaints about the quality of the New York audiences come from members of the same audience."

He told me about one particularly bad member of the audience. "When the curtain went up, he was asleep in the front row. To our eternal discredit, we never succeeded in waking him. Americans sleep in such a rampant way" — here he sprawled arms outstretched all over his chair—" not discreetly the way they do in London."

He sighed: "I really don't enjoy acting in the large metropolitan centers any more. I'd much rather confine myself to a forward-looking progressive town, forward-looking enough to put its plays in a new building." His new play, "The Life In My Hands," will open in Nottingham whose theater is so new the roof isn't on yet.

He said that the audiences outside New York were not only livelier but readier to attend. David Merrick had opened "Oliver" in Los Angeles and cleaned up on the road getting to New York. "Even the movies are thinking along those lines," said Ustinov. "Joe Levine said why open in New York and risk getting a bad reputation nationally.

"If I didn't have a family," he added, "I'd spend all my time on the road."

New York, I said, was getting bad notices everywhere. Last time I was in Milwaukee, the Milwaukee Journal editor told me his newspaper had closed their New York bureau, which had been open for 40 years, because New York wasn't providing enough news. If the plays and movies started opening out of town, what would people come to New York for — to look at the United Nations?

Ustinov's new play—"I don't like to sound too square about this" — is about the death sentence. "It's a serious play, but there are spots where people will be induced to laugh. Comedy has always been a different way to be serious. Feydau could have written a great comedy about the Profumo case. I think the Profumo case is an absolute natural for French farce. Two detectives on the trail of a Russian spy and, trailing him, they find themselves at the door of the Minister of War, whom they are responsible to."

For an actor, Ustinov has always been politically very sharp. At the door of the Lancaster, under the bright blue Paris sky, he remarked: "The extraordinary thing about America is how they tell you the moment you get there that you're finally in a free country. Yet the breadth of opinion in America is terribly narrow. Goldwater, on the Jack Paar show, had to talk about liberals and conservatives because there are no appreciable differences between Republicans and Democrats anymore."

I said there were no great differences between liberals and conservatives in America anymore either. There are just degrees of coservatism. It the New Frontier has ever had a liberal thought, they've kept it mircaulously well-hidden.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to thank all the people in the world who have kids. Especially my mom and dad. I know it isn't easy to bring up a family, but it isn't easy to be a kid either.

I would like to let my mom and dad know that I love them the way they are and I really don't want them to change. Yesterday I lost my temper something terrible and said some things I didn't mean. I called them unfit parents. If anyone is unfit it's me. I'm so mad at myself for what I said I'd like to bite off my tongue.

Although I am only 13 years old I know very well the best friends kids have are their mom and dad. From now on I'm going to control my big mouth and show them how much they mean to me.—SORRY NOW

Dear Friend: Thank you for writing. I am withholding your initials and city, even though you asked me to print them. I'd like thousands of parents to think perhaps your letter was written by their own teenager. I'm sure it could have been.

Dear Ann Landers: Five married couples used to take turns having the gang over once a week. We women sat and talked after supper while the men played cards. It was enjoyable but we had to give it up because the men never knew when to quit. It was too difficult for us girls to party until 2 or 3 a. m. and then get up the next morning and do our housework and chase after young children.

Now the men have their card games and the women stay at home, but they STILL don't know when to quit. And it's worse. Last week Clifford came hame at 6:30 in the morning. Yesterday it was almost 8 a.m.

One of the women claims we shouldn't gripe. She said, "We at least know where they are. They could be doing worse." I say if a man wants to do worse he will.

I hate for our children to see their father coming in at such disgraceful hours. Last week the milkman saw him.

Do you have a solution for this? —THE JOKER IS WILD

Dear Mrs. Joker: You girls made a big mistake when you dealt yourselves out. Reactivate those man and wife get-togethers —starting at your home. After two or three evenings, bring up the question and settle on a sane quitting time.

Encourage the consistent winners to spearhead this campaign. You'll find them surprisingly receptive. The winners always want to quit earlier than the losers.

Dear Ann Landers: We live about two miles from a shopping center. Every Friday my husband's parents do their grocery marketing out this way so they just drop in to see their little grandchild.

They don't stay more than a half hour but all the same it upsets me to have them just pop in like that. Don't you think they should telephone in advance and ask if it is convenient?

They are lovely people, Ann, and I do like them, but we have our own life and our own friends. Am I wrong to consider this an invasion of our privacy? I'd like your opinion.— KEYPORT, N.J.

Dear Keyport: One of the Landers Laws for In-laws is that there should be no popping in unexpectedly. A telephone call is easy to make and it should be a must.

I can see no evidence, however, that these lovely people are trying to "take over your life" or "interfere with your friends"—so retract your claws, Toots, and get your blood pressure back to normal. Your in-law troubles are plenty minor.

Confidential to CLUMSY OX: I agree it sounds as if you put on the floor-show. There's nothing you can do now but replace the figurine and be more careful in the future. And maybe you should stick to gingerale.

State Officials Visit Strip Mining Site

Two of the three members of the State Board of Public Works left the Cumberland Airport about 4 p. m. yesterday after a busy day in Western Maryland inspecting a proposed strip mine area in the Savage River State Forest.

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and State Treasurer John A. Luetkemeyer arrived at the airport about 9:30 a. m. With Governor J. Millard Tawes they constitute the Board of Public Works.

Yesterday's activity was the follow-up of a hearing held in Annapolis June 17. At that hearing, a decision was withheld on the application of James Thrasher of Midland, a strip mine operator, to strip mine 50 acres of land in the state forest.

Mr. Luetkemeyer said at that time that he would like to inspect the premises before making a decision. Mr. Goldstein vigorously opposed the granting of the application at that hearing.

H. C. Buckingham, acting director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, accompanied the state officials to Cumberland.

Mr. Thrasher owns the mineral rights under the 50 acres and has offered the state 200 adjacent acres to the forest if he can mine the 50 acres for the next five years.

Mr. Thrasher has promised to store the stripped area and reforest it with the assistance of the Department of Forests and Parks.

The visiting officials were met at the Municipal Airport when they arrived aboard a state plane by Jack Brodie, assistant district forester and project leader in the Georges Creek section for reforestation of strip mine spoiles areas.

Mr. Brodie took them to the 50 acres involved in the 52,520-acre state forest. Following that, the state officials were taken on a tour of areas that have been planted in joint efforts by strip mine operators and the state department of Forests and Parks.

Before leaving this section, the two state officials flew over the state forest to get an aerial view of the proposed project.

The Maryland Bureau of Mines has granted Mr. Thrasher a permit to mine the 50 acres and the Commission on Forests and Parks has approved the permit by a 3-2 vote. Now it's up to the Board of Public Works, which has the final say.

Budget Requests Are Presented

The first budget requests for the 1963-1964 fiscal year were presented yesterday to Paul E. Rodecap, city comptroller.

Budget proposals for the Police and Fire departments were presented at a meeting with Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and Fire Chief Virgil Parker.

All budget requests are due by July 24.

Mr. Rodecap said no serious evaluation can be made of any department budgets until all budgets are in. Then they can be totaled and compared with anticipated revenues.

Some 74 stations on the North Branch of the Potomac were sampled. Some 23 had pH values of 5.8 or less and 17 were 4.5 or less. This is the worst water in the survey area from the pH standpoint. Yet this is true only for that portion of the river west of Westernport. No values below 5.8 were obtained east of Westernport.

Dr. Charles E. Renn of Johns Hopkins University, submitted a review of the detergent research program which he has been conducting at Hopkins for the past three years. Development of a detergent which can be absorbed by sewage effluent is anticipated in the next three years. The manufacturers themselves are hard at work in this development.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠

Declarer overcame a serious communications problem thru an astute reading of the adverse distribution in his five diamond contract. West's third hand preëmptive three heart opening was based in part on the hope that it might stir his opponents into proceeding incautiously. North was, in fact, confronted with something of a problem. With his two suited holding, a simple overcall in spades is slightly preferred.

South's leap to five diamonds is not a sound action in our view. With a balanced hand and a stopper in hearts, a game contract in no trump appears more inviting than an 11 trick contract. If North's hand is not suitable for no trump, South may have an opportunity to show his diamonds subsequently.

West opened the deuce of spades against the final contract in an attempt to obtain a ruff, tho the king of hearts would have been a more productive choice. The lead was an obvious singleton and South put up the ace from dummy. There was little choice at this point but to venture the diamond finesse, so the queen of diamonds was put thru.

West was in with the king of diamonds and he shifted to the king of hearts. Declarer saw that, even if North's club suit could be developed successfully, he would still require one heart ruff to bring his trick total to 11, so he trumped the heart in dummy. The ten of diamonds was led and, even tho it was high, South was obliged to overtake with the jack in order to get back to his hand.

Fortunately the diamonds broke and the ace drew West's last trump. The club finesse was tried next and North's queen of clubs held the trick. One club trick must be conceded to the opposition in any event since both the king and jack can not be expected to drop on the next lead. The problem is to keep East out of the lead, for he will cash the setting trick in spades if given the chance. South's only hope was to find West with the doubleton king of clubs, for North's ace must be retained as an entry to run the clubs if they should become established.

When the queen of clubs held, South led the three from dummy next and breathed a sigh of relief when West won the trick with the king. A heart was returned which declarer took with the ace. A club to the ace dropped East's jack, and the two established long cards in the suit provided a parking place for South's losing spade and heart.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to thank all the people in the world who have kids. Especially my mom and dad. I know it isn't easy to bring up a family, but it isn't easy to be a kid either.

I would like to let my mom and dad know that I love them the way they are and I really don't want them to change. Yesterday I lost my temper something terrible and said some things I didn't mean. I called them unfit parents. If anyone is unfit it's me. I'm so mad at myself for what I said I'd like to bite off my tongue.

Although I am only 13 years old I know very well the best friends kids have are their mom and dad. From now on I'm going to control my big mouth and show them how much they mean to me.—SORRY NOW

Dear Friend: Thank you for writing. I am withholding your initials and city, even though you asked me to print them. I'd like thousands of parents to think perhaps your letter was written by their own teenager. I'm sure it could have been.

Dear Ann Landers: Five married couples used to take turns having the gang over once a week. We women sat and talked after supper while the men played cards. It was enjoyable but we had to give it up because the men never knew when to quit. It was too difficult for us girls to party until 2 or 3 a. m. and then get up the next morning and do our housework and chase after young children.

Now the men have their card games and the women stay at home, but they STILL don't know when to quit. And it's worse. Last week Clifford came hame at 6:30 in the morning. Yesterday it was almost 8 a.m.

One of the women claims we shouldn't gripe. She said, "We at least know where they are. They could be doing worse." I say if a man wants to do worse he will.

I hate for our children to see their father coming in at such disgraceful hours. Last week the milkman saw him.

Do you have a solution for this? —THE JOKER IS WILD

Dear Mrs. Joker: You girls made a big mistake when you dealt yourselves out. Reactivate those man and wife get-togethers—starting at your home. After two or three evenings, bring up the question and settle on a sane quitting time.

Encourage the consistent winners to spearhead this campaign. You'll find them surprisingly receptive. The winners always want to quit earlier than the losers.

Dear Ann Landers: We live about two miles from a shopping center. Every Friday my husband's parents do their grocery marketing out this way so they just drop in to see their little grandchild.

They don't stay more than a half hour but all the same it upsets me to have them just pop in like that. Don't you think they should telephone in advance and ask if it is convenient?

They are lovely people, Ann, and I do like them, but we have our own life and our own friends. Am I wrong to consider this an invasion of our privacy? I'd like your opinion.— KEYPORT, N.J.

Dear Keyport: One of the Landers Laws for In-laws is that there should be no popping in unexpectedly. A telephone call is easy to make and it should be a must.

I can see no evidence, however, that these lovely people are trying to "take over your life" or "interfere with your friends"—so retract your claws, Toots, and get your blood pressure back to normal. Your in-law troubles are plenty minor.

Confidential to CLUMSY OX: I agree it sounds as if you put on the floor-show. There's nothing you can do now but replace the figurine and be more careful in the future. And maybe you should stick to gingerale.

State Officials Visit Strip Mining Site

Two of the three members of the State Board of Public Works left the Cumberland Airport about 4 p. m. yesterday after a busy day in Western Maryland inspecting a proposed strip mine area in the Savage River State Forest.

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and State Treasurer John A. Luetkemeyer arrived at the airport about 9:30 a. m. With Governor J. Millard Tawes they constitute the Board of Public Works.

Yesterday's activity was the follow-up of a hearing held in Annapolis June 17. At that hearing, a decision was withheld on the application of James Thrasher of Midland, a strip mine operator, to strip mine 50 acres of land in the state forest.

Mr. Luetkemeyer said at that time that he would like to inspect the premises before making a decision. Mr. Goldstein vigorously opposed the granting of the application at that hearing.

H. C. Buckingham, acting director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, accompanied the state officials to Cumberland.

Mr. Thrasher owns the mineral rights under the 50 acres and has offered the state 200 adjacent acres to the forest if he can mine the 50 acres for the next five years.

Mr. Thrasher has promised to store the stripped area and reforest it with the assistance of the Department of Forests and Parks.

The visiting officials were met at the Municipal Airport when they arrived aboard a state plane by Jack Brodie, assistant district forester and project leader in the Georges Creek section for reforestation of strip mine spoiles areas.

Mr. Brodie took them to the 50 acres involved in the 52,520-acre state forest. Following that, the state officials were taken on a tour of areas that have been planted in joint efforts by strip mine operators and the state department of Forests and Parks.

Before leaving this section, the two state officials flew over the state forest to get an aerial view of the proposed project.

The Maryland Bureau of Mines has granted Mr. Thrasher a permit to mine the 50 acres and the Commission on Forests and Parks has approved the permit by a 3-2 vote. Now it's up to the Board of Public Works, which has the final say.

Budget Requests Are Presented

The first budget requests for the 1963-1964 fiscal year were presented yesterday to Paul E. Rodecap, city comptroller.

Budget proposals for the Police and Fire departments were presented at a meeting with Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and Fire Chief Virgil Parker.

All budget requests are due by July 24.

Mr. Rodecap said no serious evaluation can be made of any department budgets until all budgets are in. Then they can be totaled and compared with anticipated revenues.

Area Residents Warned About Solar Eclipse

Looking At Sun Can Damage Eyes

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginians were warned by the State Medical Association Friday that they may suffer permanent eye damage through direct viewing of the sun during next Saturday's solar eclipse.

The association said damage may result even if the sun, which will be three-quarters darkened at the height of the eclipse, is viewed through smoked glass or sun glasses.

The two safe methods to watch the eclipse are "over television whenever possible" or by focusing the sun's rays on a white surface through a hole in a piece of cardboard.

A spokesman said that normally, the sun is much too bright for a person to view comfortably, but that during a solar eclipse, the moon passes between the earth and the sun and blocks out enough light to permit easy observation.

"It is at this time that the infra-red rays do their damage to the retina of the eye, very much like a magnifying glass burns a hole in a piece of paper with the sun's rays," the association said. "The damage is unnoticed at the time because the retina is not sensitive to pain."

Area Residents Warned About Solar Eclipse

Looking At Sun Can Damage Eyes

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginians were warned by the State Medical Association Friday that they may suffer permanent eye damage through direct viewing of the sun during next Saturday's solar eclipse.

The association said damage may result even if the sun, which will be three-quarters darkened at the height of the eclipse, is viewed through smoked glass or sun glasses.

The two safe methods to watch the eclipse are "over television whenever possible" or by focusing the sun's rays on a white surface through a hole in a piece of cardboard.

A spokesman said that normally, the sun is much too bright for a person to view comfortably, but that during a solar eclipse, the moon passes between the earth and the sun and blocks out enough light to permit easy observation.

"It is at this time that the infra-red rays do their damage to the retina of the eye, very much like a magnifying glass burns a hole in a piece of paper with the sun's rays," the association said. "The damage is unnoticed at the time because the retina is not sensitive to pain."

Pirates Sweep Twinbill From Giants, 2-1 And 4-1

Gibbon, McBean Victors; Stargell's Hit Decides Opener

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates dented the season mastery held over them by the San Francisco Giants by taking a twi-night doubleheader, 2-1 and 4-1 Monday night.

The Pirates, who had lost their four previous meetings to the Giants, dropped the West Coast team into a third place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Southpaw Joe Gibbon struck out eight—including Willie Mays three times—in the nightcap, scattered 10 hits and yielded no walks for his fourth victory in 10 decisions. Gibbon lost his shutout in the ninth inning when Orlando Cepeda doubled and Felipe Alou singled.

Jim Pagliaroni hit a solo homer in the fifth inning, his seventh for the Pirates' first run. Then Dick Schofield doubled and Bill Virdon tripled to give the Pirates a 2-0 lead. Pittsburgh added single runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Billy O'Dell (10-6) was the loser in the nightcap.

Stargell's blow came off Juan Marichal, who went the distance and was charged with his fifth loss against 14 wins.

Alvin McBean, who pitched the ninth inning in relief of Bob Friend, was the winner.

Phillies Halt Dodger Streak

Error Beats LA In Eleventh, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A two-base error on Don Demeter's pop fly and Bob Oldis' single in the 11th inning Monday night gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 5-4 victory over Los Angeles that snapped the Dodgers' winning streak at seven games.

With one out, Demeter hit a pop fly behind second which Nat Oliver dropped for a two-base muff. Roy Sievers was purposely passed and then Oldis, inserted in the game as a pinch-hitter two innings earlier, lined an Ed Roebuck pitch through Jim Gilliam at third to bring home Demeter with the winning run.

Roebuck was tagged for his fourth defeat against two victories. The triumph was the seventh for reliever Jack Baldschun, who came on in the top of the ninth.

Peters Tosses One-Hitter, Sox Top Orioles, 4-0

CHICAGO (UPI—Gary Peters pitched a one-hitter Monday night to become the third lefthander this season to hurl a complete game against the Baltimore Orioles, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 victory.

Peters, only the fifth southpaw to beat the Orioles in 25 decisions this year, struck out 13 batters, his high for a game, to increase his season total to 104.

It was the 15th shutout by Chicago's pitching staff.

The only hit off Peters was by his rival hurler, Robin Roberts, who took his ninth loss. Roberts singled to center on his first time at bat, in the third inning, and was forced at second base.

Peters walked none and the Orioles left only one runner on base as the 26-year-old lefthander racked up his seventh win. He retired the last 19 batters in order and faced only 28 during the game.

J. C. Martin produced two Chicago runs with a homer after Ron Hansen had walked, and Tom McCraw got the other two with a home run after Pete Ward's single.

Gibbon, McBean Victors; Stargell's Hit Decides Opener

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates dented the season mastery held over them by the San Francisco Giants by taking a twi-night doubleheader, 2-1 and 4-1 Monday night.

The Pirates, who had lost their four previous meetings to the Giants, dropped the West Coast team into a third place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Southpaw Joe Gibbon struck out eight—including Willie Mays three times—in the nightcap, scattered 10 hits and yielded no walks for his fourth victory in 10 decisions. Gibbon lost his shutout in the ninth inning when Orlando Cepeda doubled and Felipe Alou singled.

Jim Pagliaroni hit a solo homer in the fifth inning, his seventh for the Pirates' first run. Then Dick Schofield doubled and Bill Virdon tripled to give the Pirates a 2-0 lead. Pittsburgh added single runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Billy O'Dell (10-6) was the loser in the nightcap.

Stargell's blow came off Juan Marichal, who went the distance and was charged with his fifth loss against 14 wins.

Alvin McBean, who pitched the ninth inning in relief of Bob Friend, was the winner.

Phillies Halt Dodger Streak

Error Beats LA In Eleventh, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A two-base error on Don Demeter's pop fly and Bob Oldis' single in the 11th inning Monday night gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 5-4 victory over Los Angeles that snapped the Dodgers' winning streak at seven games.

With one out, Demeter hit a pop fly behind second which Nat Oliver dropped for a two-base muff. Roy Sievers was purposely passed and then Oldis, inserted in the game as a pinch-hitter two innings earlier, lined an Ed Roebuck pitch through Jim Gilliam at third to bring home Demeter with the winning run.

Roebuck was tagged for his fourth defeat against two victories. The triumph was the seventh for reliever Jack Baldschun, who came on in the top of the ninth.

Peters Tosses One-Hitter, Sox Top Orioles, 4-0

CHICAGO (UPI—Gary Peters pitched a one-hitter Monday night to become the third lefthander this season to hurl a complete game against the Baltimore Orioles, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 victory.

Peters, only the fifth southpaw to beat the Orioles in 25 decisions this year, struck out 13 batters, his high for a game, to increase his season total to 104.

It was the 15th shutout by Chicago's pitching staff.

The only hit off Peters was by his rival hurler, Robin Roberts, who took his ninth loss. Roberts singled to center on his first time at bat, in the third inning, and was forced at second base.

Peters walked none and the Orioles left only one runner on base as the 26-year-old lefthander racked up his seventh win. He retired the last 19 batters in order and faced only 28 during the game.

J. C. Martin produced two Chicago runs with a homer after Ron Hansen had walked, and Tom McCraw got the other two with a home run after Pete Ward's single.

Kansas City Tops Yankees In 12th, 11-10

Bill Stafford Walks Home Winning Run In 30-Hit Affair

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A bases-loaded walk to Jerry Lumpe with two out in the bottom of the 12th inning Monday gave the Kansas City Athletics their first victory of the season over the New York Yankees, 11-10.

The A's, who trailed in the game five different times, pushed around the winning run against Bill Stafford without a hit.

With one out in the 12th, Stafford hit Bobby Del Greco with a pitch, then winning reliever Pete Lovrich sacrificed Del Greco to second before Stafford gave three straight walks to Gino Cimoli, Wayne Causey and Lumpe.

It was a remarkable effort by the A's, who had lost six out of six to the American League leaders. They came back for a tie in the last of the ninth on Norm Siebern's sacrifice fly, then had to rally for three runs in the bottom of the 11th to gain another deadlock.

Ellsworth Pitches, Bats Cubs Over St. Louis, 2-0

Southpaw Drives In Both Tallies, Posts 13th Win

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Southpaw Dick Ellsworth, with late inning relief from Lindy McDaniel, pitched and batted the Chicago Cubs to a 2-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday.

Ellsworth drove in the game's only runs with a single in the seventh inning and then let McDaniel protect his 13th victory against six defeats this year. Monday's victory gave Ellsworth a nod over every club in the National League.

After the Cards had loaded the bases with nobody out in the seventh inning on Charley James' single, Curt Flood's double and a walk to Gary Kolb, Ellsworth struckout Tim McCarver and pinch-hitter Stan Musial. Chicago head coach Bob Kennedy removed the tiring Ellsworth and McDaniel fanned Julian Javier to retire the side. It was the second relief job by McDaniel in two days against his ex-teammates

Three hits and a walk broke up a scoreless tie between loser Ernie Broglio and Ellsworth in the seventh. With nobody out, Ken Hubbs and Dick Bertell singled and a walk to Andre Rodgers preceded Ellsworth's base hit to centerfield.

Besides the seventh, St. Louis advanced runners to third base in three innings. Two walks and an infield out got Ken Boyer that far in the second and Javier made third after breaking Ellsworth's no-hitter with a lead off single in the sixth. In the ninth, Flood singled and went to third on a wild pitch, but McDaniel retired the next three batters.

Twins Crush Indians, 13-1; Stigman Wins

Three Homers Hit Off Dick Donovan

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (UPI) —Dick Stigman fired a four-hitter Monday and his mates pounded three Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits, including three home runs, as the Minnesota Twins dumped the Indians, 13-1, for a sweep of the three-game series.

Stigman gave up two singles in the third when the Indians scored their lone run. He gave up the other singles in the fifth and eighth.

Minnesota bombed Cleveland starter Dick Donovan for nine runs. The Twins came up with big innings in the third and sixth when they scored four and six runs respectively.

Earl Battey hit his 20th homer of the season in the second with a man on, and Don Mincher also connected for a two-run homer in the third.

The Twins have now hit 24 home runs in nine games with Cleveland this season.

Mincher led the Minnesota attack with three hits and four runs batted in.

Stigman picked up his eighth win against nine losses, and Donovan was charged with his sixth defeat in 12 decisions.

Red Sox Defeat Angels On Homer By Malzone, 2-1

Bill Monbouquette Bags 13th Victory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Frank Malzone drove a solo home run into the left field stands Monday to bring the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 win over the Los Angeles Angels, and give pitcher Bill Monbouquette his 13th victory — with the help of star reliefer Dick Radatz.

Malzone's homer was his 13th of the season. It came in the sixth inning after Angel rookie catcher Ed Kirkpatrick had hit his first major league home run in the fifth to tie the score at 1-1.

The defeat was the 12th in the last 14 games for the Angels, while the win was Boston's fifth in its last seven contests.

Monbouquette retired the first 14 men he faced, until Kirkpatrick lashed the ball into the right field stands. The Boston hurler then gave up five hits and had two men on base in the eighth when Angel batting star Leon Wagner came in as a pinch hitter.

Radatz, however, took over for his 37th relief appearance and got Wagner to line into a double play that retired the side.

The loss went to Don Lee, who worked eight innings and gave up seven hits.

Kansas City Tops Yankees In 12th, 11-10

Bill Stafford Walks Home Winning Run In 30-Hit Affair

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A bases-loaded walk to Jerry Lumpe with two out in the bottom of the 12th inning Monday gave the Kansas City Athletics their first victory of the season over the New York Yankees, 11-10.

The A's, who trailed in the game five different times, pushed around the winning run against Bill Stafford without a hit.

With one out in the 12th, Stafford hit Bobby Del Greco with a pitch, then winning reliever Pete Lovrich sacrificed Del Greco to second before Stafford gave three straight walks to Gino Cimoli, Wayne Causey and Lumpe.

It was a remarkable effort by the A's, who had lost six out of six to the American League leaders. They came back for a tie in the last of the ninth on Norm Siebern's sacrifice fly, then had to rally for three runs in the bottom of the 11th to gain another deadlock.

Ellsworth Pitches, Bats Cubs Over St. Louis, 2-0

Southpaw Drives In Both Tallies, Posts 13th Win

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Southpaw Dick Ellsworth, with late inning relief from Lindy McDaniel, pitched and batted the Chicago Cubs to a 2-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday.

Ellsworth drove in the game's only runs with a single in the seventh inning and then let McDaniel protect his 13th victory against six defeats this year. Monday's victory gave Ellsworth a nod over every club in the National League.

After the Cards had loaded the bases with nobody out in the seventh inning on Charley James' single, Curt Flood's double and a walk to Gary Kolb, Ellsworth struckout Tim McCarver and pinch-hitter Stan Musial. Chicago head coach Bob Kennedy removed the tiring Ellsworth and McDaniel fanned Julian Javier to retire the side. It was the second relief job by McDaniel in two days against his ex-teammates.

Three hits and a walk broke up a scoreless tie between loser Ernie Broglio and Ellsworth in the seventh. With nobody out, Ken Hubbs and Dick Bertell singled and a walk to Andre Rodgers preceded Ellsworth's base hit to centerfield.

Besides the seventh, St. Louis advanced runners to third base in three innings. Two walks and an infield out got Ken Boyer that far in the second and Javier made third after breaking Ellsworth's no-hitter with a lead off single in the sixth. In the ninth, Flood singled and went to third on a wild pitch, but McDaniel retired the next three batters.

Three Homers Hit Off Dick Donovan

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (UPI) —Dick Stigman fired a four-hitter Monday and his mates pounded three Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits, including three home runs, as the Minnesota Twins dumped the Indians, 13-1, for a sweep of the three-game series.

Stigman gave up two singles in the third when the Indians scored their lone run. He gave up the other singles in the fifth and eighth.

Minnesota bombed Cleveland starter Dick Donovan for nine runs. The Twins came up with big innings in the third and sixth when they scored four and six runs respectively.

Earl Battey hit his 20th homer of the season in the second with a man on, and Don Mincher also connected for a two-run homer in the third.

The Twins have now hit 24 home runs in nine games with Cleveland this season.

Red Sox Defeat Angels On Homer By Malzone, 2-1

Bill Monbouquette Bags 13th Victory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Frank Malzone drove a solo home run into the left field stands Monday to bring the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 win over the Los Angeles Angels, and give pitcher Bill Monbouquette his 13th victory — with the help of star reliefer Dick Radatz.

Malzone's homer was his 13th of the season. It came in the sixth inning after Angel rookie catcher Ed Kirkpatrick had hit his first major league home run in the fifth to tie the score at 1-1.

The defeat was the 12th in the last 14 games for the Angels, while the win was Boston's fifth in its last seven contests.

Monbouquette retired the first 14 men he faced, until Kirkpatrick lashed the ball into the right field stands. The Boston hurler then gave up five hits and had two men on base in the eighth when Angel batting star Leon Wagner came in as a pinch hitter.

Radatz, however, took over for his 37th relief appearance and got Wagner to line into a double play that retired the side.

The loss went to Don Lee, who worked eight innings and gave up seven hits.

Marlene Hagge Wins, Jane Schiller Tops Amateurs With 237

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—Marlene Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., romped to a nine-stroke victory in the Sight Open Golf Tournament at the Turf Valley Country Club Monday with a 54-hole total of two-under-par 208.

The dark-haired 29-year-old veteran of 13 years on the ladies' PGA circuit scored the biggest margin of victory on the tour for the past five years with rounds of 71-68-69.

51 A's Late Rallies Nip Receiving, 10-5

After spotting Receiving five runs in the first two innings, 51 A, Third Shift, exploded for ten runs in the last three frames to win by the score of 10-5 in a Kelly-Springfield Softball League game yesterday at County Field.

Art Raygor, who came on in the third inning, blanked Receiving over the last five innings and struck out nine to receive credit for the win.

Mike Helmstetter with a double and single and Buck Leasure with two singles paced the 51 A hitters. Fabbri rapped a two-bagger for Receiving. Score:

5-1A, 3rd Shift	000 023 5—	10 7 2
Receiving	320 000 0—	5 6 2

Aircrafts Pace Fourth Straight Market Decline

Trading, however, followed its recent routine pattern and contracted on the selloff. Volume totaled 3,290,000 shares compared with 3,660,000 on Friday.

Dow-Jones industrials were off 4.42, rails 1.01 and utilities 0.94. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.44.

Losses in the aircraft group included North American Aviation down 2⅜, Boeing ⅞, Lockheed 2⅜ and Grumman ⅞.

Du Pont dropped a point after reporting lower first half earnings on record sales. IBM rose 1 reflecting record first half revenues and profits. Eastman Kodak tumbled 1¼ in the chemicals. Other leading chemicals weakened.

Steels moved lower despite word from many steel producers that there are signs that the long decline in steel orders may be bottoming out. Steel production last week rose 1.6 per cent.

Chicago Grains

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up 2⅝; corn off 1⅝ to 2⅝; oats off ⅞ to 1¼; rye off ½ to up ½; and soybeans off 4⅜ to 8¼.

Wheat trade was light and uneven with some contracts gaining more than 2 cents a bushel. Prices gained momentum from miller and exporter buying in anticipation of labor difficulties.

Weekend rains were abundant and beneficial in the midwest and prompted general selling and long liquidation in both soybeans and corn.

Soybeans were down more than 8 cents a bushel despite buying on the decline by shorts, on resting orders and by trade interests. Oil and meal tumbled with soybeans.

Corn felt the pressure of local longs and fell more than 2 cents.

Oats declined with corn in mixed commission house trade. July rye firmed, but other deliveries weakened with the rest of the market.

I'VE GOT TO GO ON A CRASH DIET AT ONCE!
IT'S NOT YOU, DEAR-- DAISY HAS HER FEET ON THE SCALE
IF THERE'S ONE THING I CAN'T STAND, IT'S A DOG WITH FAT FEET!

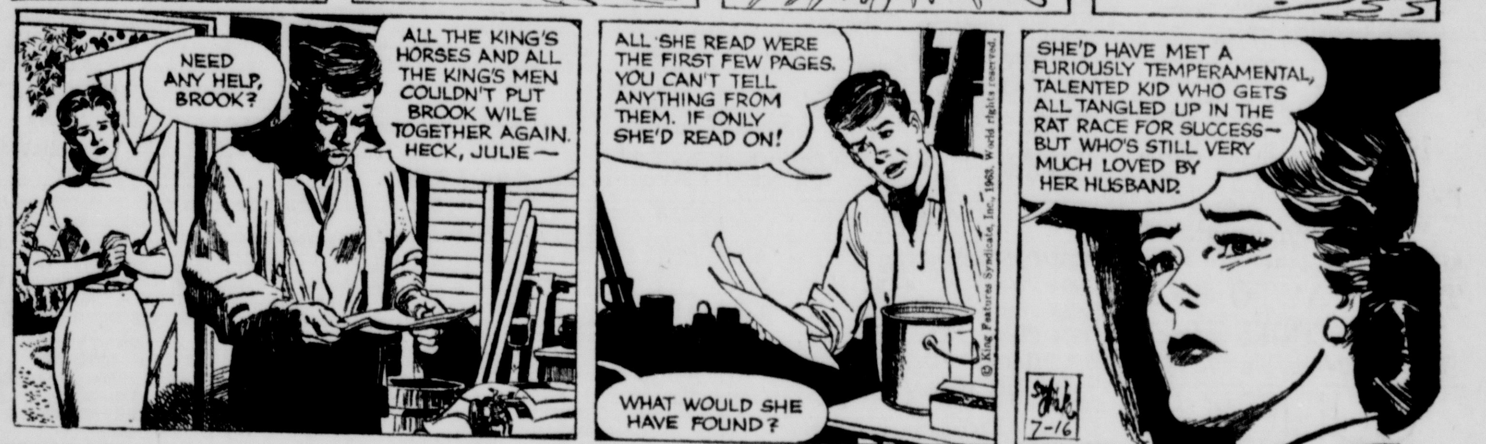
JULIET JONES



NEED ANY HELP, BROOK?
ALL THE KING'S HORSES AND ALL THE KING'S MEN COULDN'T PUT BROOK WILE TOGETHER AGAIN. HECK, JULIE—
ALL SHE READ WERE THE FIRST FEW PAGES. YOU CAN'T TELL ANYTHING FROM THEM. IF ONLY SHE'D READ ON!
WHAT WOULD SHE HAVE FOUND?
SHE'D HAVE MET A FURIOUSLY TEMPERAMENTAL, TALENTED KID WHO GETS ALL TANGLED UP IN THE RAT RACE FOR SUCCESS— BUT WHO'S STILL VERY MUCH LOVED BY HER HUSBAND.

WHAT'S THIS ABOUT NOT BEING ABLE TO LOOK AT THE ECLIPSE?
IT'S VERY DANGEROUS... YOU COULD SUFFER SEVERE BURNS OF THE RETINA FROM INFRA-RED RAYS
BUT WHAT'S THE SENSE IN HAVING AN ECLIPSE IF YOU CAN'T LOOK AT IT?
SOMEBODY IN PRODUCTION SURE SLIPPED UP THIS TIME!

THEY REALIZE THAT MEDITATION IS GOOD FOR THEIR SOULS

I TELL YOU, THERE'S SOME MISTAKE! THE ADMIRAL IS ON OUR SIDE.
THEY'RE REPEATING THE MESSAGE, CAPTAIN GATO...'SURRENDER OR BE BLOWN UP!'"
BUT OUR MUNITIONS!
WE CAN'T FIGHT A CRUISER.
PLEASE, MI CAPITAN, SURRENDER!
THAT ACCURSED ADMIRAL!... MAY HE HANG, THE TRAITOR!
HE KNOWS OUR REVOLUTION WILL FAIL WITHOUT OUR MUNITIONS. HE'S GRABBED THE CHANCE TO BE A BLANKETY-BLANKED HERO!

Aircrafts Pace Fourth Straight Market Decline

Trading, however, followed its recent routine pattern and contracted on the selloff. Volume totaled 3,290,000 shares compared with 3,660,000 on Friday.

Dow-Jones industrials were off 4.42, rails 1.01 and utilities 0.94. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.44.

Losses in the aircraft group included North American Aviation down 2⅜, Boeing ⅞, Lockheed 2⅜ and Grumman ⅞.

Du Pont dropped a point after reporting lower first half earnings on record sales. IBM rose 1 reflecting record first half revenues and profits. Eastman Kodak tumbled 1¼ in the chemicals. Other leading chemicals weakened.

Steels moved lower despite word from many steel producers that there are signs that the long decline in steel orders may be bottoming out. Steel production last week rose 1.6 per cent.

Chicago Grains

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up 2⅝; corn off 1⅝ to 2⅝; oats off ⅞ to 1¼; rye off ½ to up ½; and soybeans off 4⅜ to 8¼.

Wheat trade was light and uneven with some contracts gaining more than 2 cents a bushel. Prices gained momentum from miller and exporter buying in anticipation of labor difficulties.

Weekend rains were abundant and beneficial in the midwest and prompted general selling and long liquidation in both soybeans and corn.

Soybeans were down more than 8 cents a bushel despite buying on the decline by shorts, on resting orders and by trade interests. Oil and meal tumbled with soybeans.

Corn felt the pressure of local longs and fell more than 2 cents.

Oats declined with corn in mixed commission house trade. July rye firmed, but other deliveries weakened with the rest of the market.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Marlene Hagge Wins, Jane Schiller Tops Amateurs With 237

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—Marlene Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., romped to a nine-stroke victory in the Sight Open Golf Tournament at the Turf Valley Country Club Monday with a 54-hole total of two-under-par 208.

The dark-haired 29-year-old veteran of 13 years on the ladies' PGA circuit scored the biggest margin of victory on the tour for the past five years with rounds of 71-68-69.

51 A's Late Rallies Nip Receiving, 10-5

After spotting Receiving five runs in the first two innings, 51 A, Third Shift, exploded for ten runs in the last three frames to win by the score of 10-5 in a Kelly-Springfield Softball League game yesterday at County Field.

Art Raygor, who came on in the third inning, blanked Receiving over the last five innings and struck out nine to receive credit for the win.

Mike Helmstetter with a double and single and Buck Leasure with two singles paced the 51 A hitters. Fabbri rapped a two-bagger for Receiving. Score:

Aircrafts Pace Fourth Straight Market Decline

Trading, however, followed its recent routine pattern and contracted on the selloff. Volume totaled 3,290,000 shares compared with 3,660,000 on Friday.

Dow-Jones industrials were off 4.42, rails 1.01 and utilities 0.94. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.44.

Losses in the aircraft group included North American Aviation down 2⅜, Boeing ⅞, Lockheed 2⅜ and Grumman ⅞.

Du Pont dropped a point after reporting lower first half earnings on record sales. IBM rose 1 reflecting record first half revenues and profits. Eastman Kodak tumbled 1¼ in the chemicals. Other leading chemicals weakened.

Steels moved lower despite word from many steel producers that there are signs that the long decline in steel orders may be bottoming out. Steel production last week rose 1.6 per cent.

Chicago Grains

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up 2⅝; corn off 1⅝ to 2⅝; oats off ⅞ to 1¼; rye off ½ to up ½; and soybeans off 4⅜ to 8¼.

Wheat trade was light and uneven with some contracts gaining more than 2 cents a bushel. Prices gained momentum from miller and exporter buying in anticipation of labor difficulties.

Weekend rains were abundant and beneficial in the midwest and prompted general selling and long liquidation in both soybeans and corn.

Soybeans were down more than 8 cents a bushel despite buying on the decline by shorts, on resting orders and by trade interests. Oil and meal tumbled with soybeans.

Corn felt the pressure of local longs and fell more than 2 cents.

Oats declined with corn in mixed commission house trade. July rye firmed, but other deliveries weakened with the rest of the market.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Aircrafts Pace Fourth Straight Market Decline

Trading, however, followed its recent routine pattern and contracted on the selloff. Volume totaled 3,290,000 shares compared with 3,660,000 on Friday.

Dow-Jones industrials were off 4.42, rails 1.01 and utilities 0.94. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.44.

Losses in the aircraft group included North American Aviation down 2⅜, Boeing ⅞, Lockheed 2⅜ and Grumman ⅞.

Du Pont dropped a point after reporting lower first half earnings on record sales. IBM rose 1 reflecting record first half revenues and profits. Eastman Kodak tumbled 1¼ in the chemicals. Other leading chemicals weakened.

Steels moved lower despite word from many steel producers that there are signs that the long decline in steel orders may be bottoming out. Steel production last week rose 1.6 per cent.

Chicago Grains

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up 2⅝; corn off 1⅝ to 2⅝; oats off ⅞ to 1¼; rye off ½ to up ½; and soybeans off 4⅜ to 8¼.

Wheat trade was light and uneven with some contracts gaining more than 2 cents a bushel. Prices gained momentum from miller and exporter buying in anticipation of labor difficulties.

Weekend rains were abundant and beneficial in the midwest and prompted general selling and long liquidation in both soybeans and corn.

Soybeans were down more than 8 cents a bushel despite buying on the decline by shorts, on resting orders and by trade interests. Oil and meal tumbled with soybeans.

Corn felt the pressure of local longs and fell more than 2 cents.

Oats declined with corn in mixed commission house trade. July rye firmed, but other deliveries weakened with the rest of the market.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Piedmont Man Is Killed In Auto Accident

James L. Bissett, 52, Dies In Hospital

A 52-year-old Piedmont, W. Va., man died last night in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, with injuries sustained in a one-car accident near his home on West Fairview Street.

James L. Bissett, 266 West Fairview Street, manager of the meat department of the A&P Supermarket in Westernport, was admitted to the hospital in "extremely poor" condition at 7:30 p. m. and died at 8:05 p. m., attaches said.

Mr. Bissett, whose two-year-old grandson, Tod Smith, was hospitalized, was reported to have suffered a crushed chest and internal injuries as well as multiple contusions and lacerations.

The grandson was admitted to the hospital for observation, according to attaches, who said the youngster sustained several abrasions of the head.

Car Rolls Off Wall

The police chief said he received a call at his office about 7:13 p. m. Police think Mr. Bissett and his grandson had just got into Bissett's parked car which was headed west on the street near his home.

The car drifted backward 47 feet, plunged over a wall and dropped 10 feet onto the street at an intersection leading to the Piedmont-Luke bridge which spans the Potomac River.

Mr. Bissett and his grandson were taken to the hospital by ambulance, according to Chief Spiker, who said the Tri-Towns Volunteer Fire Company of Piedmont was called to wash down the street where gasoline had spewed from the gas tank which was knocked from the car. West Virginia State Police were notified.

Father Of Three

Mr. Bissett was a son of Mrs. Ora Bissett, of Piedmont, and the late William Bissett. He is survived by his mother, his wife, Mrs. Grace (Davis) Bissett, a nurse at Potomac Valley Hospital; three children, Mrs. Philip Smith, Piedmont; James Bissett, a student; and Helen Bissett, at home.

Also surviving are two sisters, Gladys Bissett, Piedmont; Mrs. Vivian Stalnaker, Parsons, W. Va.; two brothers, Joseph Bissett, Beckley, W. Va., and Francis Bissett.

Mr. Bissett who was a former councilman of Piedmont, was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport, Piedmont Council 685, Knights of Columbus, and Chief Justice Taney Fourth Degree K of C.

The body will be taken to the Fredlock Funeral Home in Piedmont.

Bowling Green Firemen Plan Fund Bazaar

Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will hold its annual bazaar next week to help finance the activities of the unit.

Daniel Fradiska and David E. Kirk, co-chairmen of the event, said the bazaar will feature rides and amusements and a different activity each night of the week.

The bazaar will open Monday evening and will feature a concert at 7:30 p. m. by the Allegany High School Band.

On Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., a kiddies' parade will be held and prizes will be awarded to youngsters with the best costumes and for the best decorated bicycles, wagons and scooters.

A firemen's parade will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. and Dusty Shaver, local entertainer, will perform Thursday at 7:30 p. m. A teen-age dance will be held Friday at 8 p. m. and a number of prizes will be awarded on Saturday night.

The auxiliary will hold a "white elephant" and parcel post sale in conjunction with the bazaar and bake goods will be available each night.

An advance ticket sale for the rides is being held this week and are available at businesses in the Bowling Green area.

New Parking Lot Is Opened

PPG To Close Mine

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. announced Monday it will end operations of its Midvale coal mine at New Philadelphia, Ohio, on July 22.

The mine employs 160 persons and has been operated by PPG since 1948.

The company said the mine has been a marginal venture since 1950.

Makes First Landing

Mrs. Pauline Glasson, Corpus Christi, Texas, right, pilot of the first Powder Puff Derby plane to land here, and her co-pilot, Mrs. Saundra Wright, also of Corpus Christi, look as fresh as daisies as their Cessna 175 stops at the Cumberland Municipal Airport early yesterday afternoon after a flight from Springfield, Ill. Mrs. Glasson holds a commercial license, has 12,250 hours of flying time and is flying her 11th cross-country race. Mrs. White, with 100 hours of flying to her credit, is making her first race.

Restaurants To Get Health Dept. Warnings

Results of recent inspections of Allegany County eating and drinking establishments show that far too many are not complying with state regulations, according to Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer for the county.

Dr. Jones said a letter has been prepared and will be sent to all owners of eating and drinking establishments outlining the major discrepancies found recently.

John R. Meadows, supervisor of the restaurant program for the State Health Department, was in Allegany County last week and made a survey of restaurants to see if they were complying with regulations. The letter which will be sent is based on his findings.

4 Major Violations

The letter states there are four major violations of regulations and persons have 30 days in which to correct these.

These regulations state milk dispensers must be labeled and in the event a dispenser is not visible to the public, a sign must be posted in the customer area indicating the establishment serves pasteurized and homogenized milk.

The other regulation concerns sanitary conditions. A three-compartment sink is recommended, dishwashing machines must bear the NSF seal and all sanitizers must be approved. All employes also must wear head coverings (hair nets, caps or headbands).

Other Regulations

There also are three other regulations which must be corrected within three months. These also deal with sanitary conditions.

Handwashing sinks must be provided in each food preparation area and hot and cold water, soap and towels also must be provided. Handwashing sinks must be provided in or adjacant to all rest rooms. Hot and cold water, soap and towels also must be provided.

Rest rooms, including employe rest rooms, must be ventilated and all openings must be screened.

Persons who have any questions about the regulations should contact Conrad B. Zimmerman, sanitarian for the County Health Department.

Restaurants which recently changed ownership are considered new and must obtain a permit from the health department. Every eating and drinking establishment must have a permit to operate.

Light Plane Crashes; 2 Men Injured

Two Pennsylvania men escaped serious injury yesterday morning when the four-passenger Stinson in which they were flying crashed and burst into flames about 25 miles southwest of Somerset, Pa.

The pilot, Robert Williams, 33, of Waynesburg, Pa., and his father-in-law, Samuel Shrontz, 47, of RD 1, Marianna, Pa., suffered only minor lacerations, said Pennsylvania authorities. They walked away from the wreckage before it caught fire.

Williams, an employe of Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., took off from Green County Airport at Waynesburg, about 10:15 a. m. (EDT). "We ran into several downdrifts while patrolling pipelines," said Williams.

The plane came down near Cranberry Glade Lake off Route 653 about 20 minutes after takeoff. The crash occurred in Fayette County near the Somerset County line, said state police.

Unidentified Hitchhiker On Critical List

An unidentified hitchhiker remained in "critical" condition last night in Miners Hospital where he was admitted Sunday night with injuries sustained in a two-car accident on U. S. Route 40 about three miles west of Frostburg.

The man was fingerprinted Sunday night by State Police who forwarded the prints to the FBI Laboratory in Washington for possible identification.

Police said the man was picked up in Hagerstown Sunday afternoon by Conrad L. Hoska, 23, of Arlington, Va., driver of one of the two cars involved.

Police said the unidentified man is a white male about 47 years of age, five feet, nine inches tall, 180 pounds and has black hair and brown eyes.

The man sustained a possible fractured skull and brain damage, said attaches.

Powder Puff Derby Race May End Today

Only Six Planes Are West Of Here

Most of the speedy Powder Puff Derby planes yesterday made good use of excellent flying weather and good tail winds and pushed on to Atlantic City, N. J. without stopping here.

Officials said that by late afternoon at least half of the planes had finished the 17th annual cross-country race.

Seven of the sleek planes elected to stop at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, the last scheduled stop on the 2,400-mile flight from Bakersfield, Cal.

All but one of the planes landing here pushed on toward the finish line. The last arrived here shortly before sunset and is scheduled to take off this morning.

The last six planes in the contest were stopped at the Dayton airport last night. Given good flying weather, they may bypass Cumberland and streak toward Atlantic City.

Is First Here

The first plane to stop here yesterday was a Cessna 175 piloted by Mrs. Pauline Glasson, Corpus Christi, Tex., who was flying her 11th transcontinental race.

Mrs. Glasson flew here direct from Springfield, Ill., electing to skip the Dayton, Ohio, stop.

Mrs. Glasson holds a commercial license and has 12,250 hours of flying time to her credit.

Her co-pilot was Mrs. Saundra White, also of Corpus Christi, who has only 100 hours flying time and is making her first cross-country race.

The next five planes all stopped here on their way from Dayton, the eighth official stop.

The first from Dayton was a Cessna Skyhawk piloted by Mrs. Emma McGuire, Santa Monica, Calif. With 665 hours of flying time, she was making her third derby race.

Her co-pilot was Mrs. Jan Vawter, also of Santa Monica, who has 500 hours of flying time and is making her second race.

The third to land here was a Cessna 172, piloted by Mrs. Sammy McKay, of Grand Blanc, Mich., with her sister, Mrs. Winnie DePerow, Grosse Point, Mich., as co-pilot.

Mrs. McKay was making her sixth race and Mrs. DePerow her first.

Flies Solo

An English girl, Miss Janet Ferguson, of Middlesex, England, flying solo, landed next in her Ferguson. She has 2,250 hours of flying time to her credit and was making her second race.

Piloting a Piper Colt, smallest plane in the contest, Mrs. Yvette J. Hortman, Titusville, N. J., landed next. She is flying her first cross-country race and has only 170 hours of flying time.

Her co-pilot, Mrs. Betty N. Dedmon, Levittown, Pa., has 92 hours of flying time and is making her first race.

Next in was Mrs. Dolores Adamson, Newman, Ill., flying a Piper Cherokee PA-28. She has had 480 hours of flying time and is making her first race. Her co-pilot is Mrs. Velma G. Hite, Lebanon, Missouri.

Landing shortly before sunset, and here for the night, were Mrs. Florence M. Boring, Lincoln, Neb., flying a Piper Tri-Pacer, after a non-stop flight from the Dayton airport, and her co-pilot, Mrs. Edna L. Cummings, Grand Island, Neb. With 293 and 180 hours flying time, they are making their first race.

Two County Girls Attend National FHA Conference

Two Allegany County girls have returned from Kansas City, where they attended the annual four-day conference of the Future Homemakers of America.

Representing Allegany County were Andrea Bowden, Valley High School, state FHA president, and Catherine Shipway, Flintstone High School, state first vice president. They were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Stultz, state FHA advisor and former teacher at Fort Hill High School.

"Your Home—A Key To The Future" was the theme of the conference which attracted 1,500 delegates and advisers from throughout continental United States as well as Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Mrs. Stewart Udall, wife of the secretary of the interior, delivered the keynot address on "Creativity". Another outstanding speaker was Dr. Richard Klemer, associate professor of Home Economics at the University of Washington, whose topic was "Using Your Influence With Parents, Peers and Partners."

Former President Harry S. Truman, who lives near Kansas City, was a surprise guest speaker. He said "Homemaking Is Still a Living Frontier".

In her capacity as Maryland FHA president, Miss Bowden was in charge of a relaxer during the seventh general session of the conference. She and three other Maryland girls presented a humorous program on "Physical Fitness."

As a member of the national FHA membership committee, the Lonaconing girl also submitted a report concerning a survey on junior high school girls' reactions to home economics.

At the banquet for state FHA presidents, Miss Bowden distributed black-eyed susans which had been donated by Baltimore Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin and folders on Maryland prepared by the State Department of Economic Development.

Miss Shipway will utilize ideas obtained at Kansas City in directing the state FHA program in the coming school year. They returned home Friday night.

Area Delegation Plans To Attend Legion Conclave

Fleming Will Run For State Office

More than 100 Legionnaires from Western Maryland are planning to attend the 45th annual convention of the Department of Maryland, American Legion, which opens tomorrow night in Baltimore.

Sessions will be held in the Lord Baltimore Hotel and will end Saturday, when new officers will be elected.

Philmore F. Fleming, immediate past commander of Mountain District, is a candidate for one of the top state offices, junior vice commander.

The three top candidates are presently unopposed and no opposition is expected, Mr. Fleming said. He added he was asked to run on the basis of Mountain District's record during the past year.

It won third place in the nation in increasing membership over last year, ending the contest with 3,070 members, or 118 per cent of 1962's membership.

Mountain District is sending 90 official delegates to the conclave and has named 90 delegates, many of whom will attend.

Some of the Western Maryland delegation will leave Wednesday morning and the others Friday to take part in the Legion parade in Baltimore Friday at 7 p. m.

Mountain District's four past state commanders will boost its voting strength to 94.

Newly elected Mountain District officers will be sworn in Saturday by the new state commander.

James H. Wills, 324 Front Street, Westernport, is the new Mountain District commander. A World War II veteran, he is the immediate past commander of Victory Post 155 and served as chairman for the post in the recent Sacred Heart Hospital fund drive.

Delegates to the national convention of the American Legion in Miami this September will be Frank T. Powers, Jonas McKenzie, John W. Sloan, Vincent Laffey, Herman Rotruck, Russell L. Miller and Adolph Pogell.

Alternates are Charles Bender, William Price, Fred McKenzie, Elton McKenzie, Ralph L. Wilson, Charles O. Duckworth and Willard L. Layman.

Battle Against Mine Pollution Is Launched

Conservationists See Pictures

The State Water Pollution Control Commission began its assault upon the acid mine drainage problem of Western Maryland last night as more than 20 Maryland conservationists saw films and slides showing evidence of the problem.

This occurred at a dinner meeting at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Attracting the attention of the Water Pollution Control Commission, the State Board of Natural Resources and the State Bureau of Mines as the meeting resumes this morning will be interim report on the Western Maryland survey.

This report, dated June 10, was prepared by R. J. Rubelman, a biologist with the Water Pollution Control Commission.

Criterion Accepted

Some 364 stations were selected for pH sampling on seven individual watersheds. Mr. Rubelman emphasizes in his report that low pH alone is not damning evidence that a stream is receiving acid mine drainage. The pH is at best an indicator. For this survey it was decided to follow the criterion of 5.8 as that value below which a stream would receive further investigation in this survey.

Watersheds investigated included the Youghiogheny River, Deep Creek Lake, Casselman River, Savage River, Georges Creek, Wills Creek and the North Branch of the Potomac River.

Some 96 stations were selected on the Youghiogheny. Eleven of them had a pH of 5.8 or less. The worst areas appeared to be the Snowy Creek-Laurel Run watersheds near Crellin and White Rock Run and Trap Run watersheds in the vicinity of White Rock Church.

1 Of 17 Polluted

Seventeen stations on tributaries of Deep Creek Lake were checked and only one stream, Cherry Creek, showed signs of acid pollution. That stream appears to be suffering from severe acid conditions along its entire length.

Mr. Rubelman reported that Casselman River was one of the worst acid streams in the survey. Of 56 stations sampled, 14 had pH values of 5.8 or less. The southwestern and southern areas of this stream were marginal to poor.

The Savage River watershed generally has the best water in the survey with respect to pH. Of 39 stations sampled, only two had a pH of 5.8 or less. They were Aaron Run and an unnamed tributary entering the Savage about one mile upstream from Aaron Run.

Surprisingly, Georges Creek did not prove to be carrying as heavy a load of acid mine drainage as was expected. Of 24 stations sampled, only six had pH of 5.8 or less and only two were 4.5 or less. With the exception of Winebrenner Run in the northern end of the drainage, whtich had a pH of 5.2, the stream remained in good condition as far south as Dogwood Flats.

Wills Creek OK

Like Georges Creek, the reputation of Wills Creek is not good and the first impression is poor. However, of 17 sampling stations only one (Dutch Hollow Run) had a pH of less than 5.8. Braddock Run was a real surprise as it has many of the earmarks of a stream severely polluted by acid mine drainage. Yet it had a pH

James L. Bissett, 266 West Fairview Street, manager of the meat department of the A&P Supermarket in Westernport, was admitted to the hospital in "extremely poor" condition at 7:30 p. m. and died at 8:05 p. m., attaches said.

Mr. Bissett, whose two-year-old grandson, Tod Smith, was hospitalized, was reported to have suffered a crushed chest and internal injuries as well as multiple contusions and lacerations.

The grandson was admitted to the hospital for observation, according to attaches, who said the youngster sustained several abrasions of the head.

Car Rolls Off Wall

The police chief said he received a call at his office about 7:13 p. m. Police think Mr. Bissett and his grandson had just got into Bissett's parked car which was headed west on the street near his home.

The car drifted backward 47 feet, plunged over a wall and dropped 10 feet onto the street at an intersection leading to the Piedmont - Luke bridge which spans the Potomac River.

Mr. Bissett and his grandson were taken to the hospital by ambulance, according to Chief Spiker, who said the Tri-Towns Volunteer Fire Company of Piedmont was called to wash down the street where gasoline had spewed from the gas tank which was knocked from the car. West Virginia State Police were notified.

Father Of Three

Mr. Bissett was a son of Mrs. Ora Bissett, of Piedmont, and the late William Bissett. He is survived by his mother, his wife, Mrs. Grace (Davis) Bissett, a nurse at Potomac Valley Hospital; three children, Mrs. Philip Smith, Piedmont; James Bissett, a student; and Helen Bissett, at home.

Restaurants To Get Health Dept. Warnings

Results of recent inspections of Allegany County eating and drinking establishments show that far too many are not complying with state regulations, according to Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer for the county.

Dr. Jones said a letter has been prepared and will be sent to all owners of eating and drinking establishments outlining the major discrepancies found recently.

John R. Meadows, supervisor of the restaurant program for the State Health Department, was in Allegany County last week and made a survey of restaurants to see if they were complying with regulations. The letter which will be sent is based on his findings.

4 Major Violations

The letter states there are four major violations of regulations and persons have 30 days in which to correct these.

These regulations state milk dispensers must be labeled and in the event a dispenser is not visible to the public, a sign must be posted in the customer area indicating the establishment serves pasteurized and homogenized milk.

The other regulation concerns sanitary conditions. A three-compartment sink is recommended, dishwashing machines must bear the NSF seal and all sanitizers must be approved. All employes also must wear head coverings (hair nets, caps or headbands).

Other Regulations

There also are three other regulations which must be corrected within three months. These also deal with sanitary conditions.

Handwashing sinks must be provided in each food preparation area and hot and cold water, soap and towels also must be provided. Handwashing sinks must be provided in or adjacant to all rest rooms. Hot and cold water, soap and towels also must be provided.

Rest rooms, including employe rest rooms, must be ventilated and all openings must be screened.

Persons who have any questions about the regulations should contact Conrad B. Zimmerman, sanitarian for the County Health Department.

Restaurants which recently changed ownership are considered new and must obtain a permit from the health department. Every eating and drinking establishment must have a permit to operate.

Williams, an employe of Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., took off from Green County Airport at Waynesburg, about 10:15 a. m. (EDT). "We ran into several downdrifts while patrolling pipelines," said Williams.

The plane came down near Cranberry Glade Lake off Route 653 about 20 minutes after takeoff. The crash occurred in Fayette County near the Somerset County line, said state police.

Unidentified Hitchhiker On Critical List

An unidentified hitchhiker remained in "critical" condition last night in Miners Hospital where he was admitted Sunday night with injuries sustained in a two-car accident on U. S. Route 40 about three miles west of Frostburg.

The man was fingerprinted Sunday night by State Police who forwarded the prints to the FBI Laboratory in Washington for possible identification.

Police said the man was picked up in Hagerstown Sunday afternoon by Conrad L. Hoska, 23, of Arlington, Va., driver of one of the two cars involved.

Powder Puff Derby Race May End Today

Only Six Planes Are West Of Here

Most of the speedy Powder Puff Derby planes yesterday made good use of excellent flying weather and good tail winds and pushed on to Atlantic City, N. J. without stopping here.

Officials said that by late afternoon at least half of the planes had finished the 17th annual cross-country race.

Seven of the sleek planes elected to stop at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, the last scheduled stop on the 2,400-mile flight from Bakersfield, Cal.

All but one of the planes landing here pushed on toward the finish line. The last arrived here shortly before sunset and is scheduled to take off this morning.

The last six planes in the contest were stopped at the Dayton airport last night. Given good flying weather, they may bypass Cumberland and streak toward Atlantic City.

Is First Here

The first plane to stop here yesterday was a Cessna 175 piloted by Mrs. Pauline Glasson, Corpus Christi, Tex., who was flying her 11th transcontinental race.

Mrs. Glasson flew here direct from Springfield, Ill., electing to skip the Dayton, Ohio, stop.

Mrs. Glasson holds a commercial license and has 12,250 hours of flying time to her credit.

Her co-pilot was Mrs. Saundra White, also of Corpus Christi, who has only 100 hours flying time and is making her first cross-country race.

The next five planes all stopped here on their way from Dayton, the eighth official stop.

The first from Dayton was a Cessna Skyhawk piloted by Mrs. Emma McGuire, Santa Monica, Calif. With 665 hours of flying time, she was making her third derby race.

Her co-pilot was Mrs. Jan Vawter, also of Santa Monica, who has 500 hours of flying time and is making her second race.

The third to land here was a Cessna 172, piloted by Mrs. Sammy McKay, of Grand Blanc, Mich., with her sister, Mrs. Winnie DePerow, Grosse Point, Mich., as co-pilot.

Flies Solo

An English girl, Miss Janet Ferguson, of Middlesex, England, flying solo, landed next in her Ferguson. She has 2,250 hours of flying time to her credit and was making her second race.

Piloting a Piper Colt, smallest plane in the contest, Mrs. Yvette J. Hortman, Titusville, N. J., landed next. She is flying her first cross-country race and has only 170 hours of flying time.

Her co-pilot, Mrs. Betty N. Dedmon, Levittown, Pa., has 92 hours of flying time and is making her first race.

Next in was Mrs. Dolores Adamson, Newman, Ill., flying a Piper Cherokee PA-28. She has had 480 hours of flying time and is making her first race. Her co-pilot is Mrs. Velma G. Hite, Lebanon, Missouri.
